Sponsorship Hits Publications

Near a stormy session held im-formally after publication of the most issue of The Tech, the Ad-Bnity Council on Undergraduate admissions announced that effect-

I complete censorship would be applied upon all undergraduate publications. The Council, acting under the chairman of Prince, 247, 247; pact, 247, Manager, 247, Edi-party, 247, Editor, 247, General of Undergraduate Publications roved:

me being from

me being from the activities, William Iliumsteel alloy fist of Chair-sion of these publications which effect on student opinion.

these击奏 the indictment, Boss-in the country, promises to make this year's Junior Prom the biggest social event of the season.

Since Lunceford's band rose to popularity in 1934, it has played in ballrooms throughout the country and has made numerous recordings. Among the hits for which he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

Formatting of patrons and patronesses, 3. P. Compton, 467 Commonwealth Avenue.

Admission will be by ticket stub only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford's whole band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and his orchestra are most proud is the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band as a unit, rather than starring individuals.

Since Lunceford's band rose to

popularity in 1934, it has played in

ballrooms throughout the country

and has made numerous record-

ings. Among the hits for which

he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

SIGNING OF JIMMIE LUNCEFORD

PLAYS AT J. P.

3 Frat Parties Scheduled For Saturday Night

Approximately 350 couples dance tonight at the Junior Prom of the Class of '47, held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The dance will last until 1:00 A.M.

In addition to the Prom tonight, three fraternity parties are scheduled for tomorrow evening, with orchestras playing at all of them.

These parties are at Chi Phi, 229 Com-

wealth Avenue, and Phi Sigma

Kappa, 467 Commonwealth Avenue. Admission will be by ticket stub

only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford, whose band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and

his orchestra are most proud is

the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band

as a unit, rather than starring individuals.

Since Lunceford's band rose to

popularity in 1934, it has played in

ballrooms throughout the country

and has made numerous record-

ings. Among the hits for which

he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

SIGNING OF JIMMIE LUNCEFORD

PLAYS AT J. P.

3 Frat Parties Scheduled For Saturday Night

Approximately 350 couples dance tonight at the Junior Prom of the Class of '47, held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The dance will last until 1:00 A.M.

In addition to the Prom tonight, three fraternity parties are scheduled for tomorrow evening, with

orchestras playing at all of them.

These parties are at Chi Phi, 229 Com-

wealth Avenue, and Phi Sigma

Kappa, 467 Commonwealth Avenue. Admission will be by ticket stub

only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford, whose band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and

his orchestra are most proud is

the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band

as a unit, rather than starring individuals.

Since Lunceford's band rose to

popularity in 1934, it has played in

ballrooms throughout the country

and has made numerous record-

ings. Among the hits for which

he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

SIGNING OF JIMMIE LUNCEFORD

PLAYS AT J. P.

3 Frat Parties Scheduled For Saturday Night

Approximately 350 couples dance tonight at the Junior Prom of the Class of '47, held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The dance will last until 1:00 A.M.

In addition to the Prom tonight, three fraternity parties are scheduled for tomorrow evening, with

orchestras playing at all of them.

These parties are at Chi Phi, 229 Com-

wealth Avenue, and Phi Sigma

Kappa, 467 Commonwealth Avenue. Admission will be by ticket stub

only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford, whose band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and

his orchestra are most proud is

the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band

as a unit, rather than starring individuals.

Since Lunceford's band rose to

popularity in 1934, it has played in

ballrooms throughout the country

and has made numerous record-

ings. Among the hits for which

he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

SIGNING OF JIMMIE LUNCEFORD

PLAYS AT J. P.

3 Frat Parties Scheduled For Saturday Night

Approximately 350 couples dance tonight at the Junior Prom of the Class of '47, held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The dance will last until 1:00 A.M.

In addition to the Prom tonight, three fraternity parties are scheduled for tomorrow evening, with

orchestras playing at all of them.

These parties are at Chi Phi, 229 Com-

wealth Avenue, and Phi Sigma

Kappa, 467 Commonwealth Avenue. Admission will be by ticket stub

only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford, whose band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and

his orchestra are most proud is

the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band

as a unit, rather than starring individuals.

Since Lunceford's band rose to

popularity in 1934, it has played in

ballrooms throughout the country

and has made numerous record-

ings. Among the hits for which

he is particularly noted are "Wha-

cha Know, Joe," "Tain't What You

Do," and "Blues in the Night."

SIGNING OF JIMMIE LUNCEFORD

PLAYS AT J. P.

3 Frat Parties Scheduled For Saturday Night

Approximately 350 couples dance tonight at the Junior Prom of the Class of '47, held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler. The dance will last until 1:00 A.M.

In addition to the Prom tonight, three fraternity parties are scheduled for tomorrow evening, with

orchestras playing at all of them.

These parties are at Chi Phi, 229 Com-

wealth Avenue, and Phi Sigma

Kappa, 467 Commonwealth Avenue. Admission will be by ticket stub

only.

Signing of Jimmie Lunceford, whose band is invited one of the death of this year's Junior Prom the biggest

social event of the season.

The honor of which Jimmie and

his orchestra are most proud is

the winning of Metronome's "A" rating, which has been awarded to

only a very few aggregations,

among the others being Benny

Goodman, Artie Shaw and Glenn

Miller. Jimmie attributes his success to the fact that he has concentrated on developing the band

as a unit, rather than starring individuals.