Soccer Squad Will Play Practice Game Tomorrow

Tomorrow, May 3rd, the MIT Soccer Team will play a practice game against Harvard at Harram Football Field. This game is to even the Soccer flying practice which began at the end of last month. The starting line-up for the game is as follows: Cooke, H. Hendren, Button, H. Polson and M. Rand, halfbacks, R. Jenkins, J. Veras, Captain, and E. Rosenberg. The front linesmen have not yet been determined. Since the resignations of our coach, Jim Veras, our captain has been doing a good job of trying the team in good shape for the fall schedule. There are still many openings, though, for both beginners and experts.

The last day of the party was given a tour of Peak Harbor Park, and lunchroom by Admiral Donfield. On the trip I met with the M.I.T. Club of Honolulu, San Francisco and Chicago, and had dinner with the Honorary Secretaries and the officers of the M.I.T. Club of Southern California. We stopped off at Rice Institute, Texas, where I delivered the address at the inauguration of its new President, Dr. William H. Houston.

Among our chief impressions of Hawaii were the friendly relationships between the members of the intermingled races, the efficient portion of the sugar and pineapple production, the excellence of two secondary schools—the Kamehameha school for Hawaiians, endowed by the Bishop estate which controls about one-third of the area of all the islands, and the Punahou school which was the first school established west of the Mississippi River and to which for a long time Americans from our Pacific Coast states sent their children.

The one unhappy feature is the activity of Harry Bridges, who has undertaken to establish labor control, apparently on the basis of forestalling race prejudice. It would be a great pity if the fine record of the Hawaiian Islands in the matter of inter-racial relations should be damaged by either labor or political influence.

The Tech Club will again present its annual college dance contest. The students of the college will be given a chance to show their dancing ability and win a ten-spot for their college. The contest will be held at the Tech Club on May 15th.

The M.I.T. Symphony Orchestra will present its last concert of the year on the evening of Friday, May 23rd, under the direction of Mr. Kirca Lamont. The orchestra will be a visitor in the M.I.T. Concerto, and Martin Larson, G., will play the trumpet solo in the Bruckner Concerto.
