Just Plain Students Again

With the passing of the M.I.T. Veterans Association, an era in the history of the organization has definitely come to an end, namely that of post-war readjustment of veterans to the pre-war status-quo in the field of student activities. We are glad that this has come about without the indication that the so-called "veteran's problem" is in reality no problem at all. And we are not mourning the fact that M.I.T.V.A. has faded out of existence, the organization is no longer really needed on the campus.

When we say this, we do not mean to slam the Veterans Association, but rather to provide the service for the veterans who actually joined, and to all institute disbursers, who benefited from the Veterans View, a weekly mimeographed publication, as well as the members of the Veterans Organization, the association which the former 20 M.I.T.V.A. sponsored, as well as the Universal Military Training, and were important and other of its activities were undoubtedly beneficial to the body of Technology.

But as against its good points, there were various factors weighing against the organization and these undoubtedly caused the fire that burned it to the ground. Probably the most important factor was the lack of political activity, and for the ways in which the veterans' association was organized and run under the M.I.T. Athletic Association, and Mr. Geller, the Athletic Director, got off on a promising start. It was generally agreed that the present tournament is a great improvement over the past, and it is definitely bettering the results of the last and previous efforts.

Intramurals on the Upgrade

Two weekends ago the first Intramural Football Tournament took place under the jurisdiction of the Northern New England Region of the American Football Conference. The tournament was held last weekend on the Mount Auburn campus, representative of more than 30 colleges and universities in the New England region. The tournament was organized by the Portsmouth Athletic Association, which has been a regional competition in the northern New England region.

In The Spotlight

It has been said that an army prides on its stomach, and as a form of an army (in numbers, at least) the Student Military Association is almost universally known as Bob, who runs the lounge bar on the first floor in Walker Memorial, and who has recently been appointed manager of the lounge bar in Memorial. The lounge bar is for Bob, for during the war thirteen hundred soldiers ate every meal at the lounge bar. Throughout the length of the building, we can see that Bob has been making an impression on the students in charge gain experience.

Well, Bob passes most of the compliments on to his helpers. He points to the front for that Bob gets pretty paved at the wise guys in the crowd. He usually paces them off with a shrug. "If you let them get you going, you're done. I just crack a mouth, and I'll keep them happy, until I can put some food in the wise guys' mouths.

Nevertheless, Bob still has some harrowing (in the mental sense) experiences with the individuals of the Institute.

JOB WELL DONE

Mr. Joseph L. Peabody, State Wire
War, has expressed to me the appreciation of the splendid work that your students performed at the October Mountain fire.

He states that it was the first night that fires had not broken out after the fire day had been restored. He says that it was the first night that fires had not broken out after the fire day had been restored.

I desire to express to you the fine cooperation of the students and their willingness and support of your Proposition that the fire day should be conducted.

The Berkshire County Council of the Fire Service was very cooperative with us, and we hope that the boys were properly taken care of while off duty.

Again, Mr. Peabody and myself desire to extend to you our most sincere appreciation for the assistance extended to us during this trying time.

Very truly yours,
