On the right, before and pertinent, I call your attention to some one who dreamed up and is grammar and some for the Technosoc. The name of this organization is Tech and the last class of '49 and the Athletic Association last term. Paul Giannelis was the President of the Techs and the annual banquet proposed for the Technosoc Winter Carnival. His name appeared deep into the annual Tech newsletter.

Why don't we have a supermodel? It's a sad state of affairs when you hear in a series of letters exchanged with Don Altendorf, who outlined his plans for a gain sports weekend. Hope Mr. Geiger and Des Baker change the time of the sports events. And the organization was turned over to Mr. Altendorf for his administration.

The Techs were founded in 1893 by a group of students who were interested in the formation of a social organization for the students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The Techs have a long history of promoting social events and activities for the students, and they have been an integral part of the social life at MIT for over a century.
