Abolition Movement Reappears; Civil Strife Believed Inevitable

A new organization, the National Society for the Abolition of Municipal (U.S.A.), is to be started at the Institute, it was announced this week. Founder of this group, whose purpose is to "peacefully disseminate propaganda meaningfully to the people to that end," includes Herbert Linzer, Daniel McQuaid, and Sanford Rohm, all students.

The first meeting was held last Wednesday, and there is to be another this Wednesday, December 17, at 10:45 p.m. in Ware Lounge. Officers announced that everyone is welcome, membership being open to anyone having casually passed through, even, or under Massachusetts.

Present the society has several plans for accomplishing its purpose. Among these are cutting the fight from the way of the run. From the Atlantic, it having alternatively to publish and void by the Supreme Court, because it should have never started in the first place. However, since it was pointed out that the absence of Massachusetts would be a good thing for Alaska, thus destroying the Port of New York, it was suggested that a three-foot-wide buffer space be left at the eastern end of the state. Since this buffer space would extend to the end of Massachusetts, it would be called the "Tarniment Institute." A final plan is to furnish letter to the N.S.A.M. in New York, to the end that the students be sent to New York, New York, Manuscripts, accompanied by the name, address, and college of the student should be received within a low point in the tenor recitative and aria immediately following.

Shapley

(Cont. From Page 1)

The U. S. Air Force offers you

$336 a month one year after graduation

That's what you can earn after completing one year of pilot training and winning your wings in the Air Force.

It is a good deal from the start. While you're an Aviation Cadet you draw $75 per month, plus food, quarters, medical and dental care. After successfully finishing the course, you are commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, and assigned to active duty with the Air Force at $336 a month (including flight pay), with excellent chances for further increases as promotions come through.

In addition, you get an extra $500 for each year of active duty, and will be given a chance to compete for a commission in the Regular Air Force if you are interested in a service career.

This opportunity, which cannot be duplicated anywhere else at any price, equals men for well-paid, responsible positions throughout the aviation industry, at high pay from the beginning. It is open to you if you're single, between 20 and 26 and 1/2 years old, and have completed at least one half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or pass an examination measuring the equivalent). Ask for details at your U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or write to Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington, D. C.

U. S. ARMY AND U. S. AIR FORCE RECRUITING SERVICE

NOTE: If you are enrolling assignment or more assistance needed, this Cadet Program was cut back in 1944-45, you can apply only to the Institute for the current year, and meet the other requirements listed above. Write for information to the N.S.A.M., Institute, Washington 25, D. C.

Library

(Continued from Page 1)

Center for Study Scholarship Aid

According to the statement by John E. Karcher and Dr. T. Fair, "Fast fields offer particularly alternative possibilities for a program of research in the new center for scientific aid to learning. These include printing and all phases of duplication; documentary reproduction, including microfilms, xerography, facsimile, and related techniques; sound recording, concerning the full exploitation of the means of hearing; and mechanical selection, dealing with assembling, arranging, and supplying data of all kinds. Research in sound recording, xerography, and phonetics are under way in the acoustics laboratory, and in the Departments of Language, English, and History. Methods of selection by mechanical means are being studied in the Department of Electrical Engineering, microfilming applications of this field are under surveillance in the Department of Chemistry."

Tuesday, December 16, 1947

Reviews & Previews

(Taken from National News Service)

The work as a whole showed improvume, although there were many rough spots and a lack of focus and hurry. The glee club sang only "After the Final Battle" in the chorus. "If Only a Child Is Born," "Light up your heads," O ' Ye Fairies," and "A Lamb That Was Slain." Most of the singing, however, seemed to lack the necessary fervor to make the oratorio convincing. Undeniably, the Women's Glee Club was overshadowed by the Men's, which was superior both numerically and locally.

For the most part, the soloists were very pleasing voices, but they shared the tendency of the chorus to sound uninspired. The most popular soloists were Busch- tock's "I Know My Redeemer Lives" and Major Dakin's "Why Do the Nations So Furiously." The orchestral accompaniment was quite satisfactory and unobtrusive which the M.T. Sym-phony has been making, but the optimist in the orchestra who lacks the necessary fervor to make the oratorio convincing. Internally, the work was superior both numerically and locally.

Inevitably, the entire performance will suffer by comparison with the version given at Rindge Tech the previous Sunday. It is not possible, however, to make a fair critical comparison, since the performances had different soloists, women's chorus, and conductor. Naturally, the superior quality of the first performance is to be expected, considering the pool of the Musical Clubs for the future.