INTER-CITY CORRESPONDENCE

Pursuit of the local press over the past several weeks has shown that some public officials have appealed to Doctor Compson for advice and information. George H. Rockwell, the State Fuel Coordinator, asked for information on how to keep the town in the dark by keeping the embroiled citizens of M. A. In the Boston request for advice on how to remove the great quantity of snow in Boston.

The good Doctor’s reply to Mr. Rockwell also appeared in a letter to Mr. Rockwell. In a letter to the Editor, the same day, the Doctor wrote:

The Doctor's reply to Mr. Rockwell also appeared in a letter to Mr. Rockwell. In a letter to the Editor, the same day, the Doctor wrote:

"We'll get a rosy glow in the East with the news that the Radcliffe student has roused the heart of M.I.T." Further inquiries of the Doctor about M.I.T. were revealed in a letter to the Editor.

Regardless of its implications concerning Boston snow removal and politics, we certainly hope that hot weather is not far away, as it is quite a convenient solution for the city. Regardless of its implications concerning Boston snow removal and politics, we certainly hope that hot weather is not far away, as it is quite a convenient solution for the city.

MORE ON DANCES

In the January 3 issue we wrote in these columns about the relationship between the “lack of school spirit” and the large number of dance and social affairs sponsored annually at the Institute. The editorial contained a specific suggestion—that is, that a committee be created to investigate the matter and determine the feasibility of an officially-sponsored social calendar. At the present writing no action has been taken along these lines. This is the same sad story that has plagued the experience of the 5:15 Club. For some months the 5:15 Club has been planning a Washington’s Birthday Ball at Walker Memorial Hall. However, recently, the members of the 5:15 dance committee discovered that Tech’s basketball squad was slated to meet Fordham on the University of Massachusetts) in Walker Gym on the same evening. At first the committee was quite concerned about this conflict. The members put it, “We’ll have basketball; basketball, basketball, basketball, basketball, basketball!” Further inquiries showed that there were no other acceptable dates available at Walker and very few dates that Mr. George and arranged for the basketball game to be held earlier in the evening, the two affairs now dovetail nicely.

This idea—of course, is very well with the Tech basketball team. However, it does not seem to be very well with the Institute, for it is the opinion of the Institute that the ball should be held on a day when there is no basketball. The Institute is of the opinion that the Institute should have a chance to enjoy its own activities without being hampered by the activities of the other teams. The Institute is of the opinion that the Institute should have a chance to enjoy its own activities without being hampered by the activities of the other teams.

RADCLEEFFE REPLIES

In reply to our story several weeks back concerning the library’s censorship policy, a letter appeared in the Tech News. In this letter the editor said that the library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.

"The library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future."

The letter, which was written by the director of the library, said that the library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.

The letter, which was written by the director of the library, said that the library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future. The library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.

The library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.

The library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.

The library’s censorship policy is not so much a thing of the past as it is a thing of the future.