Radium Found In Building 22 Doses Students
Radio Hams Exposed To Dangerous Element For Nearly Two Weeks

Three residents of the Building 22 dormitories were dangerously exposed to a powerful dose of unregulated radium for a period of over ten days. It was learned last Monday that Dr. Gilze, '36, Robert Caspari, '39, and Donald Parmalee, '36, were given x-rays at a hospital in Harvard in February. It was made to make sure they had suffered no ill effects from the dose, which was incurred while working on one of

T.C.A. May Sell Tech Cabin To Y

Recently, the Tech Cabin was informed by the YMCA that it would be interested in buying the Tech Cabin. If the YMCA presents this, there is little the Tech can do but give in, as the YMCA has the Y property.

Due to the ill will the Tech Cabin has received, both through groups that cannot be accommodated in the camel, it is likely the Tech Cabin cannot be accommodated in the Tech Cabin. There are several residents in the Tech Cabin who cannot be accommodated in the Tech Cabin, including

Unlimited Course Choice isProbable
Program Opens To Aid Fresh Course Selection

In an effort to aid freshmen in the selection of their course, a program designed to present facts about the various courses has been undertaken. Dean Thomas F. Rule and Professor John Rule, who is in charge of the program, believe that no one should be limited in an unlimited enrollment next semester. The only restriction, they say, is that courses be taken in order to arrive at the point of selection of his course.

The program will consist of a series of five lectures and various exhibits in Building 117. Nine of the ten courses open to freshmen will be represented in the program. The opportunities in their particular field in the lectures. The lectures will be held 4:00 p.m. on Mondays, electricity, and the facilities of the departments have made facilities available for the purpose. The students may choose one of the courses.

Some time during April the freshmen will be asked to fill out cards indicating their choice of course. This is not a final decision. The purpose of this poll is to give the students an idea of what courses are available. The results will be available soon.
