that in our opinion the Walker Memorial Committee has in the perhaps we can set it straight in the record now if we state that the misinterpreted in certain quarters. If we have "blasted" the which would be necessary to print it in the space available.

MISINTERPRETATION

at least better use can mostly certainly be made of the available. In some colleges lectures of this nature are given almost every use of the armory, (3) Mr. Clayton was told that he was going doing, (4) obtaining funds to rent seats was first announced college vacation.

LASTLY, although it would require some good expediting,

If Dean Baker heartily agreed with the proposal, despite also by activities,

matters toward American-Soviet friendship, expressing, applauded with enthusiasm for Russia greetings and best wishes in response to the Annual Meeting of the Society discussing various works, but also by the productive forces of Nazism and Fascism, and de-entering, applauded with enthusiasm for the

the Annual Meeting of the American Physical Society, and Dr. Condon read in to the annual meeting at the Society the following January:

Dr. Condon answered to the most of the American Physical Society as follows:

"Dr. Condon, as President of the American Physical Society, and Dr. Condon read in to

It is, then, obvious that the cramped crowd in 10-250 and the three or four hundred disappo sized students and faculty members outside of 10-250 was another example of very poor planning.

The Institute's long-range building program includes the construction of a auditorium. In the meantime we must make the best of our easily inadequate facilities.

The various departments must schedule lectures in such a way that the students can take advantage of them. It certainly is most unfortunate when a man as outstanding as Mr. Clayton visits Technology and only those strong enough to push into 10-250 can hear him.

It is doubly unfortunate in the case of the Institute, because in some colleges lectures of this nature are given almost every week, while at Technology it is an unusual event.

The real solution to this problem is an integrated lecture program and an assembly hall. In the absence of the latter, at least better use can mostly certainly be made of the available.

MISINTERPRETATION

We recently received a letter from Bill Zimmerman of Technology asking if we would prepare an article for our editor concerning the Walker Memorial Committee and the elections of the debating society.

We have stated previously that we would try to print all letters in their entirety as we are faced with a problem when a letter is long and we would have to make a decision as to which part of the letter would be most interesting to our readers. This problem is one which we are constantly faced with. Perhaps we can set it straight in the record now if we state that the Walker Memorial Committee has in the past been a model of efficiency and progressiveness—a model which other groups would do well to follow.