"THE BEST IS YET TO BE"

The telephone will be another two years old this year. In developments within a single lifetime has been a modest miracle. It is only the beginning.

There are any number of men in the telephone business today—some just starting out—who see greater progress than the past has ever known.

Year by year the next half century will be increasingly clear. New leaders will appear from among them. Step by step, rung by rung, they will mount the ladder up to the top. For telephone management is employee management and comes up from the ranks.

There will be more good jobs for qualified men, if they get up a total ofuf 1958 and 1959 and now. Just it can't help being that way. For all of the basic necessities and professions, there are few more interchangeable.

So the future is bright for those who make telephony their life-work. For them, "The best is yet to be."
