Debating Societies Compete Against D'Youville, Princeton

Dr. Compton Moderator
At Open House Debate; Large Crowd Expected

The annual freshman debating tournament, sponsored by the M.I.T. debating society, will be held Monday through Thursday of this week, April 26-29. All information referring to the time and place of the individual debates may be found on the English bulletin board, second floor of building 24.

Junior Night (Continued from Page 1)

Massachusetts Avenue will provide plenty of good, solid boxing action to open up the get-together. Ticket sales are being handled by personal contact through class representatives to assure an all-Junior crowd. The price will be $1.00 (tax included) which will be used to defray the expenses, including costumes for the non-inhabitants. The idea of the affair was conceived by Roland L. Greene and he now heads a committee consisting of David L. Yeomans, Paul McLaughlin, Edward L. Perkins, John W. Harter, Eugene M. Wroblewski, Edmund M. Bevington, David H. Hardin, William C. Mitchell, and John M. Cook.

HUH THE TECH

Dr. William C. Gieger, photographed, will be dean Everett M. Baker, Dean of Engineering, says that M.I.T. students should be congratulated for their breadth of vision in fashioning their own solutions to the problems of modern technology.

Boston Herald

Boston Daily

Several weeks ago, the Variety Club of this city held a get-together to open up the season's activities ball to open up the season's activities. The featured speaker was John H. Crider, editor of the Boston Daily News, who talked about the role of the newspaper in the promotion of American democracy. The evening was well attended and the saying that "a good newspaper is a good friend of America" was repeated by many of the guests who attended. Dr. Compton, moderating the debate, was an excellent choice for this particular issue.

FSSP

(Continued from Page 2)

according to an article in the Boston Daily Globe on April 16.
John M. O'Reilly, editor of the Boston Herald, made the following statement: "M.I.T. students should be congratulated for their breadth of vision in fashioning their own kind of Marshall Plan."

Activities Ball

(Continued from Page 1)

be Dean Everett M. Baker, Dean of Engineering, says that M.I.T. students should be congratulated for their breadth of vision in fashioning their own kind of Marshall Plan."

You can have

Cafe De Paris
Real Home-Cooked Food
Rosenberry Friends
Luncheons and Dinners
Visit Our Lounge Bar
165 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston

Start your dinner as late as 11:00. And still have time for a delicious pleasant meal.

Dirty Moore's
In the Alley — or Washington St.