The Engineer hockey squad improved its record to 4-1-1 this past week, as the team, which had been held to a 1-1 tie by Sigma Chi in the first period, succeeded in holding off the B.C. attack, which had been very effective throughout most of the game, with a 3-2 victory in the second period. The Engineers' defense was sound throughout the game, and the only goal scored on Dean, which was the last, came on a breakaway from the left wing.

The game was played at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, December 7, at the Holland Arena. The game was scheduled as a make-up for a game that was played earlier in the season, but which was postponed due to a power failure.

The game was played against B.C., who are currently ranked 2nd in the nation. The Engineers were led by Captain Ted Madden, John Walworth to bring the Tech total to 12-5. B.C. took the Beavers over the season line to the tune of 12-5.
