fraternity findings

taking advantage of the vacation between terms, many fraternity men enjoyed Florida's fun in the sun or New England's winter sports. A Duke and several Phi Beta Kappas went to Delray Beach. Four B.A.E.'s, wearing sun glasses, were away in a convertible, driving along and down Miami Beach. A large group of Themis' Chals also responded to the lure of surf, sunshine, and sand.

A member of Sigma Chi's were almost marooned for several days at Deer while his Elwood lodge with 20 girls from Bryn Mawr moved next door to 6 from Birkelack. Also at Sloane, several Phi Gamma's and Phi Sig's were seen on the upper deck of St. Mark's, unaware of the Sigma Chi's gold mine. Phi Sigma Eagles will open their house—and hearts too, if the eccentricities are any indication—this Valentine's evening. Guests will be introduced to Cupid's kingdom when they find themselves walking through a large heart on the front door. The party, at the first of the term in atmosphere favorable to the good loomance, should set the pace for ones to follow. Contributing will be liquid refreshments and dancing to records, both a sure aid to St. Valentine.

On the weekend of the 18th, the Delta Tau Delta's will invite members from other chapters to their house at New N.D.'s. A formal at the Harpor House will inaugurare the festivities. Set-ups will be provided and Hal Sloane's trip will furnish the music. It last year is any indication, only the glimmer of sunlight will quell the hearty spirit.

In the past the faculty designated several days including April 19 as Technology's Spring Vacation. There was a sinister motive behind this choice; since the nineteenth of April is Patroclus' day, a legal holiday in Greece, the morning after Paul Revere's ride, one of the vacation days fulfills an obligation to the State. This term, for instance, the Spring Recess to have been from April 16 through April 20.

One of the gripes Techmen have about vacations was the lack of coordination between those of the Institute and those of other colleges. Not only would the Techmen go home in April to find all his friends away at school, but men who dated girls from local colleges would have to do without their Radcliffe or Wellesley women at Easter time weekends. The situation never was very serious, but those who found time for an active social life and who had it disrupted in this fashion usually felt that the faculty could have been more considerate when planning the vacation schedules.

Now, with all the best intentions, the faculty has re-examined the school calendar. Last fall they announced that changes would be made, and that beginning with next September a new schedule would go into effect. The only change made in this year's calendar (as set forth in the catalog) was the shifting of the Spring Recess from the dates mentioned to March 26 through April 3. We gain several days of additional time in April to find all his friends away at school, but men who dated girls from local colleges would have to do without their Radcliffe or Wellesley women at Easter time weekends. The situation never was very serious, but those who found time for an active social life and who had it disrupted in this fashion usually felt that the faculty could have been more considerate when planning the vacation schedules.

For the past several weeks the Department of Buildings and Power has been putting into effect a new automobile parking facility to be followed by students, staff, and faculty. Over a longer period of time, a program of expansion of parking facilities has been carried out, although one would not know it to look at the east parking lot. West of Massachusetts Avenue, however, much soggy field has been paved, and when construction is finished at Hayden Library and other projects, the east lot will be restored to as unpitted condition.

The new regulations are designed to distribute the available space equally, as well as to accommodate nearly all who use a car at school. In some cases, minor hardships may result from assignments to inconvenient parking lots, but it may be expected that the parking will be faster and more convenient for most autos. Or so we hope.
