Thursday at 3:00 p.m. The third and final meeting of T.C.A.'s Skeptics Seminar will be held in Tyler Lounge. Speaker and discussion leader will be Professor Kirtly Mather, the History of Science, and the faculty member will speak on "Science and Religion in the Life and Thought of Charles F. Himsel.

Hindses Described

At the second meeting of the seminar, which was held Thursday, March 17, the speaker was Reverend Allen Byun, formerly of Harvard. During the first fifteen or twenty minutes of the meeting, Reverend Byun talked about India, comparing the general standard of living and religion in that nation with our own. It was pointed out that in India, while some of the world's most influential intellectual people are to be found in the Hindu Brahmin class, the great mass of Indian people are religiously ignorant. The Indians themselves described it as "other-worldly," with its ideal as a life of asceticism and meditation. It was implied that India's present social conditions are to at least in part a result of a lack of spiritual values such as are found in the religions of western cultures.

discussion and debate. It was asserted by one of the persons present that "Love and Marriage" is a topic about which India should not be judged by comparison with our own standards, but should be considered relatively.

Various opinions, some pertaining to others not pertaining to the original subject were presented. It was generally agreed that love is not something that can be defined, and that, if it is considered, it should be considered with the belligerent attitude.
