'53, HERE'S TECHNOLOGY

For the next few weeks, probably, many of you will stop what you are doing for a moment to think, "Gosh, I'm going to the Institute of Technology," mentally repeating the name of your school in full. Some of you may have known for a long time that you were going to come here for your higher education. If so, you have had some time to learn before you settle down to the routine of study. Technology boasts one of the highest reputations among science and engineering schools and one of the highest student bodies in all colleges. The reputation is principally attributed to the Institute itself and to the student body, although the undergraduate school is also top-rate; the faculty is not restrictive. You may have already noticed a marked difference in the attitude towards the student body on the part of the Institute and your secondary school. Technology has a fine disregard for your behavior and leaves the governing of your welfare to you as long as nothing you do sullies the good name of the school. In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

Dean Baker, who is the member of the administration designated to worry about student welfare, has said, "As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be."

Dean Baker, who is the member of the administration designated to worry about student welfare, has said, "As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be."

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.

As far as I'm concerned, the only rule that ought to be necessary is, 'All students are to do as they like and do nothing that they would not do if they were the good name of the school.' In short, the Institute treats you like responsible adults, which is as it should be.