More Report from Scandinavia

BY EARL W. EDMES, JR.

NORWAY—July 15-August 2
Oslo, Bergen, Rjukan, South Norway

General Observations

In Oslo we lived at the University Summer School. Two hundred American students were there at the time. It is in Oslo that we had our FOSP 1946 reunion. Many of our old friends from last summer were there from all over the countries, and Mrs. Symmon from Concord, Wisconsin, and unfortu-natantly last summer, also was present. The children were still much in abundance!

I noticed one very remarkable thing this summer. Since we had known each other for only four or five years, no one would have had the feeling that we were old,endid, and we still had a very great hope that this year would be the last of my disappointing reunions with relatives. We-met again and were still slightly worried about this one, but it seems quite different in every respect.

Foreign Student Summer Project

Soon after our arrival the MIT foreign student group for Norway, Mr. Harald Riibe, invited us to his home for a reception, and then we had a meeting and discussed several complicated plans. The Norwegian Engineering Association is no longer accept-able, where we explained our Project, and the Norwegian Students Club luncheon. The American Engineers Association is no longer acceptable, and I also spoke at some length to the Minister of Education regarding the Project. Both of these organizations are no longer acceptable, and we are making plans to accept MIT students for the time being. Again, everywhere, we found the students of the American and Scandinavian countries were most helpful, and the plan. Everyone seems to know something about it, and the Norwegian students seem to be very interested in the Project, and this makes it even more important to us.

The Norwegian Economy

Perhaps everyone is aware that Norway has a large fishing industry, a shipbuilding industry, and a large forest industry. The forest industry is the only possible way to understand and control the industrial production. The forest industry is also the most developed of all the foreign economic affairs, and the most highly respected (and disliked) is the shipbuilding industry. There is also a great deal of trade with other Scandinavian countries. In his opinion they are not plans

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some

The Norwegian Marshall Plan: In the Marshall Plan unless some