Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I hope that the following will satisfy you that we have taken a forward to the developments in the dormitory Open House policy. No student here can deny that the dormitory was our home under a... pressure that is unique to Tech. It is not my purpose to discuss this pressure, but I have been one of the first to gripe against what I feel is an excessive

Need to know is, do we please, but do to what is commonly acceptable as decent, or just, or, how little. When my preregistration to choose between right and wrong is taken away, I consider a vote of "no confidence." Technology has always been proud that it is a "place for men, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline. For that is not how these roles are not new, but their strict enforce- ment, and that's where the rub comes in. What sort of a front we put up to the outside world (the dormitory) shows everyone as so worried about for example doesn't often affect what we do, but it has been passed to me that we... situation, as to what must be away. Therefore, I consider a vote of "no confidence."

To work, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline.

For that is not how these roles are not new, but their strict enforce- ment, and that's where the rub comes in. What sort of a front we put up to the outside world (the dormitory) shows everyone as so worried about for example doesn't often affect what we do, but it has been passed to me that we... situation, as to what must be away. Therefore, I consider a vote of "no confidence." Technology has always been proud that it is a "place for men, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline.

For that is not how these roles are not new, but their strict enforce- ment, and that's where the rub comes in. What sort of a front we put up to the outside world (the dormitory) shows everyone as so worried about for example doesn't often affect what we do, but it has been passed to me that we... situation, as to what must be away. Therefore, I consider a vote of "no confidence." Technology has always been proud that it is a "place for men, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline.

For that is not how these roles are not new, but their strict enforce- ment, and that's where the rub comes in. What sort of a front we put up to the outside world (the dormitory) shows everyone as so worried about for example doesn't often affect what we do, but it has been passed to me that we... situation, as to what must be away. Therefore, I consider a vote of "no confidence." Technology has always been proud that it is a "place for men, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline.

For that is not how these roles are not new, but their strict enforce- ment, and that's where the rub comes in. What sort of a front we put up to the outside world (the dormitory) shows everyone as so worried about for example doesn't often affect what we do, but it has been passed to me that we... situation, as to what must be away. Therefore, I consider a vote of "no confidence." Technology has always been proud that it is a "place for men, not Boys to play." Auton- omous student government is the role rather than the exception, and the trend has been toward, rather than away from more self-government and discipline.