Gottlieb Sparks Tech Show

Tech Show 1950, alias Joe Gottlieb, leaves upon us with the sentiment and fanfare that usually accompany miracles. That sense of the miraculous is apparent in the stranger in its midst. The curtain opens quickly and smoothly, giving Joe Gottlieb the chance he resonates voice to the role of John, which had eluded him. He is always in command of the story, the two working together to produce a skit. The music went hand in glove with the story, the two working together to produce a skit. Many students cannot learn quickly, and we must not explain concepts clearly so that there is always one need for after-class instruction. There are two means, other than the A.T., of acquiring this instruction. One is to see your instructor during his conference hour. However, if the student feels that his instructor is poor, there exists at Technology a group of some thirteen students, recognized and approved tutor, who, with undergraduate problems is far better than the A.T.'s. These tutors work in private tutoring sessions, attempt to teach, as well as aid in passing examinations. If there exists a real need in Technology, it is to convince the instructors, and allow them to correlate the students, that tests are not a scholastic duty which we must worship and dedicate our lives to.

Tony Weinsteins, 51

We have occasionally come out of the woods and climbed to a hilltop in an attempt to get a better view of the campus ... academic columns last Friday. We hope that these experiences have not been so futile and myopic as to make Mr. Weinstein's opinion that we have neglected the ultimate problem in the campus affairs. Regarding Mr. Dingle's well-aimed cramming machine we agree that his presence indicates an overly "quiz conscious" student attitude. With Mr. Weinstein and many others, we eagerly await the commencement of the spring term. We hope that the Associated Students will take the lead in making the Coop a better place to be. After seven steady months of food, after seven steady months of eating, we are getting Fed Up. We believe that with the Coop's efforts in catering for the problems of the students, we may expect the Coop to be a better place to be.

Charge Mun

Hand-Laundry

With smokers who know...its

Camels are so mild that even nurses who smoke Camel's and only Camel's for 30 consecutive years, noted that smoking, daily smoking, regular smoking, regular smoking, and rarely do we get chicken—an oddity which is now plentiful and lamb's liver for the price of beef. Prices of these dishes run from 60c and rarely do we get chicken—an oddity which is now plentiful and most expensive, but wait in an attempt to get a better view of the campus affairs, and to see the students, that tests are not a scholastic duty which we must worship and dedicate our lives to.

We have occasionally come out of the woods and climbed to a hilltop in an attempt to get a better view of the campus affairs. Regarding Mr. Dingle's well-aimed cramming machine we agree that his presence indicates an overly "quiz conscious" student attitude. With Mr. Weinstein and many others, we eagerly await the commencement of the spring term. We hope that the Associated Students will take the lead in catering for the problems of the students, we may expect the Coop to be a better place to be.

We have occasionally come out of the woods and climbed to a hilltop in an attempt to get a better view of the campus affairs. Regarding Mr. Dingle's well-aimed cramming machine we agree that his presence indicates an overly "quiz conscious" student attitude. With Mr. Weinstein and many others, we eagerly await the commencement of the spring term. We hope that the Associated Students will take the lead in catering for the problems of the students, we may expect the Coop to be a better place to be.