Unique Globe Turns In Stein Club Room
Gift of H. H. Young

Have you seen the new globe in the Boston Stein Club room of the Hayden Library? There’s no other one exactly like it in the world. It’s a reproduction of the original made in the late 1500s by the Danish cartographer Olaus Worms, with 31,000 feet. The 29-foot-long globe is made of plastic and hangs from the ceiling. The world is shown in bright colors, and it’s a fascinating piece of history. If you haven’t seen it yet, be sure to check it out!

Acquaintance Dance
(Continued from Page 1)

There will be as many fellows as girls, ticket sales in the girls’ schools being limited to 400 for the present.

Flirt of Girls
Ticket sales are going exceptionally well, enough at this time that it seems that there will be at least as many girls as boys at the dance. In fact, 496 tickets have been sold, with 496 tickets remaining. The dance committee consists of Thomas R. Callahan ’54, chairman; Bernard Cassidy G, vice chairman; John H. Bron ’53, refreshments; Leo Woods ’53, entertainment, and Kenneth Chapman ’53, decorations.

Sailing
(Continued from Page 1)

The national division were Governor and Woods, contributing a first and a second to the Technology total.

Point Totals
Light winds made sailing difficult for the skippers from the four schools, and one Technology boat disqualified. Point totals for the four schools were: M.T. ’52, 110: Coast Guard, 103; Harvard, 81; and Yale, 79 points.

LARRY’S
BARBER SHOP
SEVEN BARBERS... NO WAITING!

So light...so dry
glass after glass after glass

The beer that’s both light and dry

Pale Dry
Schaefcr

Look for the name
Paldry
on red and white Schaefcr label

Our hand has never lost its skill

The F. & M. Schaefcr Brewing Co., New York, N. Y.