If IT'S "ARROW" WE HAVE IT!
ETONS
FIVE BOSTON ARROW SHOPS
104 SOUTHEAST ST.
(Colonial Theatre Building)
279 WASHINGTON ST.
(Off Jordan's)
224 MASSACHUSETTS AVE. (Opp. State Thea.)

One Man Tells Another...

It's Arrow for Comfort!
If you want your underwear really comfortable—you've wanted Arrow. Arrow slips have no binding on seams, and are gracefully cut. Form-fitting "Arrow Guards" and undershirts are made of fine quality cotton yarn. See your Arrow dealer!

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES UNDERWEAR - HANDKERchieFS - SPORTS SHIRTS

Make Your Selection of ARROW SHIRTS, UNDERWEAR, TIES AND HANDKERchieFS AT THE Technology Store

Students who are subject to Selective Service regulations should not wait to send advice until they have been classified by their local boards.

Editorial

By the time that the end of October comes around we can usually look back on several different kinds of rivalry between the freshmen and the Sophomores, but for some reason nothing in the way of large scale pre-contest mayhem has been initiated by the two lower classes this year. We suspect that a present absence of the traditional hostility has come about largely because Building 22, the favorite battleground of the sophomore era, no longer houses a large contingent of students in a high-echelon environment conducive to sensations of temporary insanity. As a result of our well-kept freshmen halls it is to be well housed, and on some of them have experienced a hallucination that comes of running headfirst through a wall.

Since such pleasures are inappropriate outside the asbestos tiles of the Barracks (in the case of running through walls, as one never will), we wonder what will evolve to fill the idle need for undergraduates and paranoia. We have had a few among the underclassmen in many different forms over the years. It has always been healthfully vigorous, but somehow we have failed to arrive at some sort of a formula. We are told that Mr. Dau, the dormitory refrigerator, has been used as a sort of public toilet, and that some of the underclassmen have covered the windows of the dormitory with a sort of wild ice cream. It seems that the time is again arrived when we are due a new method of havoc. We hope that they shall be of a levy intensity and still do no damage.

The girls out Westley way were greatly impressed with the architecture of Baker House and its lounge in which the party was held. After May 31, when the contest officially closes, the judging committee meets and decides on the winner for the year.

Drasham Prepares For Presentation Of The "Imaginary Invalid" Nov. 3, 4

Riled as "French and funny," "The Imaginary Invalid" is now in its final rehearsal as the first production of the Dramashop this year. Links for the performances are Friday and Saturday evening. Tickets for the performances are $2.50 each. The performances are at the lobby of Jordan's.

Written in the seventeenth century by the playwright Moliere, the production has altered some of its original satire and humor. It is set in the Paris of Moliere's own time. The plot is built around Armand, a hypochondriac who tries to marry the beautiful daughter of a second-rate doctor in order to save some of his medical expenses. Always ready to poke fun at any- one, Moliere here is the medicine man. He played the lead himself in the first production of the play in Paris. The performance suffered a stroke which led ultimately to his death.

One of the interesting jobs in the production is that of escorting Tech student to work for a Boston firm. Certain other activities of the old TCA have been replaced by services more in tune with the times. Among the more colorful of these is "Film Work Department," in which Tech students journeyed over the county jail each week to give lectures to the inmates in English and arithmetic. Several other activities of the old TCA have been replaced by services more in tune with the times.