No. 47

November 22 to November 28, 1950

The THE

ASSOCIATION OF TECH STUDENTS

The Calendar of Events

By RICHARD J. POWELL

If my ends are not being cut, my beginnings are being sabotaged. Last week I was not cut, I was sabotaged! Unbelievable as it sounds, a predecessor found and corrected a misspelling. In this instance, however, the misspelling was to two weeks old, was intentional. For those left unformed by last week's meaningless opening, I now repeat it, as intended:

Fortunately, the Juliard (sic) String Quartet is an extremely excellent and highly evasive group, one of their rare appearances being on page 6 of Mr. Schwann's September LP catalog. The Juliard (bldg) Quartet will not honor us this Sunday, and it is with small consolation that the Juliard (ahhh!) String Quartet will appear in their stead.

By any name, the four musicians appearing in Huntington Hall last Sunday afternoon were nothing short of terrific. Balancing simple Beethoven with impressively tarred, the meticulously tarred program had a novel opening in Verdi's minor Quartet. Verdi was thoroughly eventually an opera composer, and, though seventeen strings do not provide operatic material, I suspect the curtains of 10:10 is part of each of the four movements. What there was was music, and over-generous care.

Any musical definition in the Verdi Quartet, was amply made up for in the Beethoven's Quartet Opus 59, No 3 and Ravel's F major Quartet. The Juliard Quartet proved the common wisdom: display it all,掌声 Cain, technically and tonally. Indeed, Messrs. Mahler, Schoenberg, and Wiegand form a quartet of which any country could well be proud.

For the next two weeks the Boston Symphony Orchestra will have as guest conductor Dr. Sergo Koussevitsky, who in the spring of 1895 resigned as permanent musical director of the Boston Symphony, a post which he served for twenty-five distinguished years. Dr. Koussevitsky has chosen to perform Haydn's 'Oxford' Symphony and the sixteenth Symphony of Beethoven on the programs of this coming week end. There is a greater possibility of obtaining seats for the concerts this Friday and Saturday than there will be for the week after, the big demand for tickets for a "Rossini" concert being offset in part by Bruckner in full and part by the turn back of tickets, etc.

(Continued on Page 8)

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

NOVEMBER 22, 1950

Monday, November 27

Electrical Engineering Department, Colloquium: "Punched-Card Scientific Computation." Mr. Frank M. Versvtha, Room 6-138, 3:45 p.m. Tea and refreshments will be served in Room 6-221 at 4:00 p.m.

Colloquium of Biology: "Responsible Advantages of Membership." Mr. E. Joseph, Beethoven, Student Aides, Knights of Columbus, Room 3-408, 3:45-4:30 p.m. (Hihel Society; Seminar: "Beginnings of Jewish Ideas." Rabbi Maurice L. Elkon, Director, Harvard-N.Y. Hilllitt Foundation; Crafts Lofts, 3:00 p.m.

Thursday, November 23

Thanksgiving Day, Holiday.

Friday, November 24

"Biology Department. Applied Biophysics Seminar: "Air Flows Measured in Humans." Dr. J. Mead, Harvard School of Public Health, Room 4-309, 4:00-5:00 p.m. Published every Tuesday and Friday during college year, except during college vacations.

Election study trip to Harvard-M.I.T. Room 7-204.

Exhibitions

Lithographs of Toulouse-Lautrec will be on display in the New Gallery of the Charles Hayden Memorial Library until November 30th. Photographs taken by H. E. Frenzen shortly of Bloomington, Illinois, the home town of the French Impressionist painter, will be on exhibit in C-101, Building of 11, from November 29 to December 3.

If It's "Arrow" We Have It!

FIVE BOSTON ARROW SHOPS

599 BOSTON ST.

(High School Building)

HOTEL STALEY

(Street & Lobby Entrance)

279 WASHINGTON ST.

(Corner of School St.)

224 MASSACHUSETTS AVE.

(Opp. State House)

For Your Active Campus Life...

Arrow "Gabanaro" Sports Shirts

If Your Eye Collar Size and Sleeve Length:

Necker too tall? Collar too tight? Not a chance! This super sports shirt is sized like your regular Arrow shirt, so you can ask for your exact collar and sleeve length and be sure of perfect fit. Fine quality gabardine... really wanderful! In a wide choice of colors and patterns.

$5.95

ARROW SHIRTS & TIES

UNDERWEAR • HANDKERCHIEFS • SPORTS SHIRTS

Make Your Selection of Arrow Shirts, Underwear, Ties and Handkerchiefs At the Technology Store

The THE

Tuesday, November 21, 1950

Bell Telephone

A device for實現 the voice over the air. THE TECHNOLOGY STORE

Sunday, Nov. 19

This is a fine situation! I am typing this column in total darkness, with the 2000-candle power lamp I just spent three weeks learning to use. The lights in downtown Boston, the one I can see, are visible from my window, in a building and a corner at the Cambridge side, which is especially helping the Rebbe. About 6:30 p.m., tonight, power throughout the city, I believe, was restored. My calculations were fairly accurate. Pining on the faces of the old dorms buildings is the redlight of electric lights. Before long, we are on the way up, and expected to be energized, the old familiar water-bombs, and spreading pictures of exudum and exudum. You commuter can't know what your missing. The fire department has been here so far, and extinguished the first fire, but a second, bigger one was started as they left. As I write, I hear the clanging bell mingled with various shouts that mean they are back, probably with the paddy wagon. Last I saw, some guy was roasting marshmallows over the source of all the rumpus.

Off the Beat by RICHARD J. POWELL

If my ends are not being cut, my beginnings are being sabotaged. Last week I was not cut, I was sabotaged! Unbelievable as it sounds, a predecessor found and corrected a misspelling. In this instance, however, the misspelling was to two weeks old, was intentional. For those left unformed by last week's meaningless opening, I now repeat it, as intended:

Fortunately, the Juliard (sic) String Quartet is an extremely excellent and highly evasive group, one of their rare appearances being on page 6 of Mr. Schwann's September LP catalog. The Juliard (bldg) Quartet will not honor us this Sunday, and it is with small consolation that the Juliard (ahhh!) String Quartet will appear in their stead.

By any name, the four musicians appearing in Huntington Hall last Sunday afternoon were nothing short of terrific. Balancing simple Beethoven with impressively tarred, the meticulously tarred program had a novel opening in Verdi's minor Quartet. Verdi was thoroughly eventually an opera composer, and, though seventeen strings do not provide operatic material, I suspect the curtains of 10:10 is part of each of the four movements. What there was was music, and over-generous care.

For the next two weeks the Boston Symphony Orchestra will have as guest conductor Dr. Sergo Koussevitsky, who in the spring of 1895 resigned as permanent musical director of the Boston Symphony, a post which he served for twenty-five distinguished years. Dr. Koussevitsky has chosen to perform Haydn's 'Oxford' Symphony and the sixteenth Symphony of Beethoven on the programs of this coming week end. There is a greater possibility of obtaining seats for the concerts this Friday and Saturday than there will be for the week after, the big demand for tickets for a "Rossini" concert being offset in part by Bruckner in full and part by the turn back of tickets, etc.

(Continued on Page 8)