Red Aggression In S. Korea Initiates Open Warfare

Editor’s note: This is the lead of a series of articles writing campaign for THE TECH by Professor Thomas H. D. Mahoney, scouting Korea and the part it has played in international relations since the close of World War II.

by PROFESSOR THOMAS H. D. MAHONEY

Department of History

On 15 August, 1948 the Government of the Republic of Korea was formally inaugurated in the United States under the Truman Doctrine. Two months later the General Assembly replaced its temporary commission with the more powerful United Nations Commission on Korea which was instructed to work for the unification of the country. The Commission was further empowered to observe the withdrawal of both Russian and American occupation forces from Korea. The Russians again refused to cooperate and denied the Commission the right to observe the withdrawal of their troops, which has been completely withdrawn. This claim proved substantially correct, except that a larger military mission had remained to train the North Koreans. The American withdrawal, which had already begun and which was subject to UN observers, was completed 29 June 1949 except for 200 officers and men of the United States Military Advisory Group.

One year later, almost to the day, American military forces returned to Korea, under somewhat different circumstances to participate in fighting an aggressor whose depredations were to cost the United States over 20,000 casualties at the time this is being written with reports of over 20,000 casualties. Now that the North Korean Armies have been crippled, although playing with the wind, both packs were hard pressed by the Tech for several minutes and there was no further score, Tech won 5-3.

The Tech forwards made a determined attempt to score again and there was notable play by the loose forwards. Stroud, Lyons and Dykes had only 60 minutes of playing time left, Hoffman converted another penalty from the Middle 25-yard line and since there was no further score, Tech went with their first 9-6 to 9-3 margin.

Thus the Tech rugby squad breaks even on this year's games with draws against Harvard and Pennsylvania — a defeat and a win against McGill. Class of '53 Skippers Victorious By 19 Points in Soph-Fresh Regatta

In a six-boat interclass regatta held at the sailing pavilion last Saturday, the Skippers topped the Class of ‘54 by a nineteen point edge, winning handsomely 102-18. A strong gusty wind with occasional calms, added to the excitement, but 8 of the 9 boats were completed without any corrections or breakdowns occuring. Disqualifications due, for the most part, to the special team racing rules cost both sides heavily.

The Skippers swept the field, not only on lady's, but also on the men's individual races as well. Taking first place in each of the three contests. The men of ‘53 took the first race by a score of 46 to 48, as profitaed both team spots.

In the second race, the first boat from the Tech from the Tech for the Skippers for the Sophomores too. In the third attempt, the Skippers swamped the Tech, for they were badly hurt by disqualifications, as a 29-30 score.

Melbina High Man

High point man for the entire regatta was the Sophomore captain, Edward Melbina, with a score of 31 points. Close behind was Freshman Jake Kerwin with 29 and Dave Almquist with 22. Other Sophomore skippers were Gene Romer, Herb Brun, and Adam Blumberg.

Another Sophomore, Pete Pfen- thal, shared high point honors for the Freshmen by a score of 28 points. Other Freshman skippers were Almquist, Lindquist, Haiman and Robertson.
