Madame Pandit To Speak Here At Convocation

Affiliation of Institute With Polytechnic To Be Topic Of Talk

Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Indian Ambassador to the United States and sister to India's first Prime Minister, Subbaibabu, will speak at 10:30 a.m. Monday, April 23, at 9:10 a.m.

The purpose of the talk is to promote the projected affiliation program between Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Delhi Polytechnic. The new news from India will be the first to be displayed at the Institute and made available to all students and staff. The affiliation is hoped to help promote a friendship on a global level so that both schools will have a greater capacity to learn as demonstrated by correlating them with the development of the new affiliation program between Technology and Delhi Polytechnic.

Student Government

Facts about the projected affiliation program will be e-mailed to the Presiding Officers of the various organizations. Dr. Killian outlined the plan to the President of the Dormitory Committee, which he had been chosen to head the new programming committee.

Edward P. Brooks, vice president and director of Sears, Roebuck and Company, has been chosen to head the new School of Industrial Management.

The appointment of the Chicago industrial executive as dean of the school, which is to be relocated to $250,000 of the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Inc., was announced by President James R. Killian, Jr., to Chicago alumni last night.

In announcing Mr. Brooks' appointment, President Killian said, based on his considerable experience in the field and his knowledge of the engineering implications of management, that his appointment is made at this time because of the objectives of the Institute that modern management has achieved.

Carnival Time Featured

A really gay evening affair is on tap for tomorrow evening, April 26, in the music of George Graham and his orchestra in the Balcony Room. There will be dancing, singing, and games, and the selection of the Carnival Queen will open by the fall of the year.

The appointment followed an intensive study of the qualifications of executives in the Institute's Industrial Management Department, the choice of which Mr. Brooks, on the recommendation of the Advisory Committee on the School of Industrial Management, has been chosen to head the new programming committee.
