Compton, 2 Pros, To Appear in Summer Courses at Harvard

Two Institute professors will teach at the 1951 session of the Harvard Summer School. Associate Professor Robert L. Bishop, professor of Economics, will give both an undergraduate course and a graduate seminar in Economic Theory. Assistant Professor George A. Znamensky, professor of Russian, will give a course in elementary Russian.

5. No Techretary, because she is a working girl, may be interviewed at work. All Techretaries have been photographed at heavily-populated campus areas; find them there instead.

Five winners are to be selected. These five men will be presented with a complete, all-expense-paid evening, with dates to be selected by them. They will be strongly urged to escort one of the five picked Techretaries, but the Techretaries can be no more required to accompany the winners if they do not so desire.

Do not waste incomplete sets will not be considered; each of the five Techretaries must be identified and interviewed. Don't miss the next issue of The Tech—don't miss this, the most colossal and fabulous contest of our time. Yes, "Meet Me."

5:15 Elections

New officers of the 5:15 Club have been elected. They are Joseph T. Allibone '52, president; Dean N. Washburn '52, vice-president; Gerald L. Nardone '53, secretary; Nicholas P. Koines '52, treasurer; and George L. Perrone '54 and John E. Pierce '54, members-at-large.

Physics Society

Professor S. C. Brown will speak today on "Microwave Gas Discharge" at the weekly meeting of the M. I. T. Physics Society in Room 3-270 at 5:00 p.m. There will be a slide exhibition.

Freshman Weekend

Counselors for Freshman Weekend are needed by the Freshman Weekend Committee. Men who are familiar with undergraduate activities, particularly those who take part in them, are desired. These men will act as personal advisors to the freshmen during the four-day period before the opening of school next fall. Anyone interested should sign up with Dorothy Hedges in the Institute Committee Office.
