Fullbright (Continued from Page 1) is one of approximately 759 grants, including 100 State Scholarships, for study abroad which are a part of the Fulbright program for the academic year 1951-1952. As provided by the Act, all students are selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, the status of which is appointed by the President. Students are recommended by the campus Fulbright committees and by the Institute of International Education.

This latest announcement brings to ten the number of graduate students and alumni who have received United States Government Grants for study abroad in 1951-52 under the Fulbright Act. Five of these students are from New England, three of them from Greater Boston. The eight previous M.I.T. Fulbright appointments were: 1. Robert Dudley of Ashburdam, Mass., to study medical physics at Hamer Marriott, the University of London, England. 2. Thomas P. McNulty of Cambridge, Mass., to study architecture at the Superior Institute of Architecture, Venice, Italy. 3. James McKenna of Lebanon, New Hampshire, to study mathematics at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. 4. Charles N. Winslow, an alumnus of Hartford, Connecticut, to study organic chemistry at the University of Paris, France. 5. Leroy N. Shumaker of American City, New Jersey, to study engineering at the Technical College, Delft, The Netherlands. 6. John Fox of Huntingdon, West Virginia, to study physics at the University of Groningen, The Netherlands. 7. Murray Sirkle of Washington, D.C., to study physics at Chula's College, the University of Cambridge, England. 8. Christopher walker of Collegeville, Tennessee, to study physics at the University of Paris, France.
