The three new Bulletin Boards seem to have been unanimously accepted as a welcome change. Perhaps there is still a slight amount of doubt as to their legal use.

The current rule states that "one poster per event." I am not sure whether or not the statement should read "one post per activity." Let me therefore enter a plea for all those organizations whose programs call for more than one event per week.

To start an activity, we need to let the Office know. As the Bulletin Board is a highly visible medium of communication, we should certainly encompass a few down activities and have many events scheduled in any one week. Would it be fair to restrict them to one poster?

Paying a smaller fee and yet highly important organization, I think that the Outing Club has several events planned for each weekend. The Religious Organizations usually divide their programs into Services, Picnics, Concerts, and General Meetings. How can one poster effectively advertize more than one of these events?

Does the one-poster-per-organization idea not have the purpose "legality" at Tech? Of course, at the other end of the scale there are the one-month-a-month activities such as the annual... (Continued on Page 5)
