In The Spotlight

Dr. Julius A. Stratton, Provost

The position of Provost is occupi d by one of the most interesting personalities on the M.I.T. campus. He is Dr. Julius A. Stratton, who held the position since it was first set up three years ago under President Killian.

Dr. Stratton has held other positions for two years, and at the same time, he is Dr. Julius A. Stratton, who was born and bred in Seattle, Washington, Dr. Stratton transferred to Tech from the University of Washington.

Dr. Stratton is deeply interested in individual student welfare, and regrets that he can't do all the student contact himself. He has administrative duties which include looking after sponsored research and industrial cooperation. Academics consist of handling interdepartmental activities and projects, and two or more separate departments may combine for research, as far as the case is in the normal science and academic lists.

Recent and noted in Seattle, Washington, Dr. Stratton transferred to Tech from the University of Washington. After graduating, he began a career as a transfer student in 1921. Dr. Stratton replied, "I think we've
