Deferment of 1-S To Be Granted To Present Students

The 1951 amendments to the Selective Service Act of 1948 and the recent流行的 new deferments have qualified a number of students who are entering service. They will, therefore, have the opportunity to complete their college education in full. The Service, however, will grant deferments only to those who are eligible to receive them. Dr. R. Kendhurst, Director of Selective Service, explained that the new deferments are based on the following factors:

1. The student must be enrolled in a course of study at a college or university.
2. The student must be a full-time student doing a full-time course.
3. The student must be pursuing a full-time course.
4. The student must be a member of the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

The new Selective Service law provides for the Class 1-A status for students who meet the above criteria. A student who is enrolled in a course of study at a college or university and is working full-time will be granted a deferment until he is a full-time student doing a full-time course at the time the order for induction is issued. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.

Class 2-A is the deferment for students who are in the process of completing a course of study. A student who is a full-time student doing a full-time course who was working full-time on January 1, 1952, and passed in the design and execution of their work will be given a deferment until the date the order for induction is issued.