Tracksm To Engage B. C.; Fresh Hunt Prep Pre-Kate

The Technology track team will go out after its first dual meet victory of the season tomorrow afternoon at Briggs Field as part of the annual "Tech-a-Poppin' Weekend. The Beavers will take on the Boston College Eagles in a meet starting at 3:00 P.M., with the Tech year-round tracksters setting out to challenge B. U. in a feature.

Frosh Strong Men

The Engineers, who bowed to Northeastern University in their dual meet opener two weeks ago, rank as an even match with the B. C. squad. Jack Ryder's Eagles are strong in the weight events but have a great many weak spots on the squad. Freshmen and Pat Dickson will rank as a favorite in the hurdles, the broad jump and the high jump, and is also listed as a possible entry in the dash.

Herald Connolly is the strong man on the B. C. weight group, having taken fourth place in the New England shotput last year and recorded throws upward of 47 feet. He should present a strong threat to Tech's-A-Poppin' front man in the weight to regain the national title as their conquerors were upset by B. U. in their last meet.

Frosh Rout George Academy

The Frosh tracksters beat St. George Academy, Boston University while the Frosh team routed St. George 49-26, winning the 200 yard free-style, the 100-yd. back-stroke, however, the frosh trounced to B. U., by 15 points. On the brighter side, George Academy lost to B. U. on Wednesday, the Varsity losing to Huntington Prep in a meet starting at 2:30 P.M.

Two Mile Sprints

One of the best races of the day will pit Bill Nicholson of the Beavers against Tony Sapienza of the Eagles in the two mile, Sapienza running the best race of his career last week when he hit 9:48 in his heat scheduled to double in the mile and of the I.C.4A. two mile, but is seriously hampered, when they learned about the loss of Sinclair and Bob White and Bob Zoller. Both meets should be fairly close and should provide good competition.

Distinguished from a long line of distinguished researchers, this student scholar has turned too many gallons of milking milk over to aging on in the Statute. A survey of the social calendar shows that numerous fraternities as well as a social group at Baker House are having parties while T. P. is going on. It's a pretty sad commentary on a long-existing state of affairs. This is just another manifestation of the lack of school spirit which has been at the bottom of other Tech affairs.

A bit of work went into the planning of this affair and it still holds promise of being a terrific weekend. The only thing lurking is a positive attitude on the part of our student body. Many have been the complaints that Tech is a factory rather than a college. If it is any wonder such a situation exists because of the negative, don't-give-a-darn attitude on the part of all concerned.
