SCARBARD AND BLADE MILITARY FORMAL

Many couples who attended the Scabbard and Blade Military Ball, held Saturday night in Mays Hall, have hailed the military formal as one of the best dances held on the campus this year. There was so much beauty, so much eye appeal, so much style in every little detail, that the guests of the Ball came away with a feeling of satisfaction that their night had been a success. The beauty of the decorations, the graceful dancing, the handsome uniforms, and the smartly attired guests were all a part of the appeal of the Ball. The decorations were simple, yet effective, and the guests of the Ball were the real stars of the evening.

Civil Engineering Conference Room Named for Spofford

A conference room to be used primarily by the Civil Engineering Department will be named for Dr. Charles M. Spofford, Professor of Civil Engineering and the former head of the department. Although the exact details of the room, including the layout and location, have not yet been worked out, it is expected that the room will serve as a place where students and faculty will be able to discuss their work. The room will be used for various purposes, such as conferences, discussions, and small lectures. The room will also be available for small societies associated with Course 3, and for the Civil Engineering Department.

Finance Budget

The Finance Board is holding its annual budget meeting this Thursday, April 10, at 4:00 p.m. in Building 1. A special agenda will be held on Thursday night for the purpose of presenting the budget for the coming year. The Finance Board will discuss the budget with the Student Government and the various student organizations. The budget for the coming year will be presented to the Finance Board on Thursday.
