Fraternity Findings

With Capt. in John P. Midgley, 55, commanding, the good ship Golden Lion set sail last Saturday at Phi Psi Delta's traditional Fraternity Party. A body hanging from a flagship over the bow of the ship brought forth many comments from passers-by while the well-nested and decorated rooms were admired by those inside. Once aboard, the frisky pirates had a good time singing and dancing to the music of Zark Schuman.

Last Blast Party

Across from the street from Phi Mu Delta, the Lambda Chi Alphas had a Last Blast party. The red cherry punch Kathleen, one girl there who decided she must kiss every passerby while the well netted a body hanging from a flagpole. Sherwood Johnston, a Greek of Jack Gaharan.

Fraternity Findings

Delta, the Lambda Chi Alphas generously helped the Lambda Chi Alphas during the formal event. Camilo A. IVejia, '55, made the necessary arrangements. Sherwood Johnston, a Greek of Jack Gaharan.

The Delta Psi Dance

The derby hats which the Dekes gave out could be seen at all the Delta Psi Party. A body hanging from a flagpole was admired by the Dekes.

Reading and Study Skills Program

Increases Speed, Comprehension

Two and one-half years ago when there had been student agitation for a reading program, the tachistoscope, Harvard Reading Films and eight o'clock classes were fairly uncommon in most Techmen. This student interest and subsequent Institute support led to the formation of the Reading and Study Skills Program given today at the Institute.

At that time, Institute officials contacted Mr. William Perry of Harvard University as to who would best be able to handle the program. Who was desired was a concentrated course on how to read faster, increased, with the average increase in speed being anywhere from 90% to 105%. Almost never has there been any loss in comprehension, with a gain in comprehension more often being the case.

The procedure that the Institute has adopted as regards the course is to give all incoming freshmen a Cooperative C-1 Test in vocabulary and reading. Those in the lowest one-quarter are then advised to take the purely voluntary 21-hour course. Nevertheless, the greatest response to the course has been from the upperclassmen and graduate students, with a minimum of freshmen taking advantage of the course. The time for classes was set at 8:00 a.m. so that all those interested would be able to make the three or four classes per week.

Films Help Minimize Regression

The Harvard Reading Films, prepared by Mr. Charles Whitlock and Mr. Perry, throw groups of words onto a black background, first two, then three and four at a time with constantly increasing speed. It is quite similar to passing a billboard on a train and getting only one chance to read it. This machine corrects the most common reading habit, that of regressing, by preventing the reader from looking back and forth rhythmically as you go from one line to another. The films also increase one's ability to infer, to remember detail and to visualize. Three films give the tachistoscope a computer sharpness of twenty minutes of each class hour.

Machine Develops Constant Rate

The Reading Rate Accelerator, one of which is in the English and History Library, can be used only

Who are the oldest beer makers in America?

It depends what you mean by that. If you mean just beer, then the oldest beer makers in history were the Egyptians. They made beer some five hundred years ago.

But if you mean "lager" beer, there's a different answer. The oldest brewer of lager beer in America is Schaefer. We started in 1842. Up until then, beer was cloudy, heavy and bitter—not at all like the clear, light beer you enjoy today.

Because the Schaefer brothers have 110 years of lager beer brewing experience back of them, they give you beer that has the clarity and lightness we moderns want—yet retains a flavor that's positive and true. Try a glass of Schaefer today and enjoy taste and quality that the Pharaohs couldn't buy with all their gold and jewels.

make it clear... make it Schaefer BEER

OUR HAND HAS NEVER MET A BAD BEER

The P. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., N.Y.