particularly with reference to instruction in the context of a greater sense of responsibility and rapport for leadership essential to a good orientation and information program in the armed forces."

Dr. Murich observed that the colleges and universities for years to come would be the source of the majority of new officers, which can be influenced while in the ROTC units.

In supporting the Ford Foundation studies, Mrs. Anna Rosenberry, Assistant Secretary of Defense in charge of Maximyron, stressed that "we need an educated, informed citizenry."

She noted that the present Army was not comparable with the one that was organized during World War II when the men were trained for combat. The ball of the armed forces now may not see military action for two years of service. They will be released to their own liberty.

Many of the men in military service may want to know why they, out of the entire nation, have been drafted and placed into a new kind of life," Mrs. Rosenberry observed. "They have given up their educations, their Civilian pursuits, their earning power. The question is: Why? Why not some other..."

"The question is: Why? Why is it that in the long and continuous struggle we give them assurance so that they can understand why they should be inducted, in North Africa or any other place. The leadership must make them more effective in the services in war..."

A film of working and living conditions offered by most of the nation's aircraft companies, for the benefit of prospective job applicants.

A project which is still only in the planning stage is the compilation of a booklet explaining Course XVI to entering freshmen choosing that course.

The new M.I.T.-Simmons-Tufts combination will hold its first Social on Friday evening, November 21. The affair will be held in the Hayden Library Lounge on the third floor of the east wing. After dinner, which will begin at 6:00 p.m., Professor Carl Deutch will discuss "Disarmament, Christianity and Western Civilization." Folk dancing, singing, and refreshments will complete the evening, presented as an M.I.T. Lilly Lecture Series dealing with contemporary and medieval Jewish life.

Professor Deutch has a doctorate in government from Harvard and a doctorate in political science from Charles University in Prague, Czechoslovakia. His primary field of research has been the subjects of nationalism and international government, which includes research trips to Europe, North Africa and South America. In writing many articles and papers on group discrimination in the middle and modern ages, he has done extensive study on Jewish national spirit. After the talk there will be open discussion together with a question and answer period. The entire Institute community is invited to attend, and Simmons, Wednesday, Tufts and other neighboring colleges have also been invited.

Dr. Harriet Greene
D. H. A. Hartley will give a talk and Accessory organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields - 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-month period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-month period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
