"Project Lincoln" Revealed
As Study Of Atomic Defense

The nature of "Project Lincoln," the super-secret Government project that has been going on in Building 22 since the beginning of the Korean war, was revealed earlier this week in an interview with Dean Albert G. Hill, the program director of the Institute Committee. He said that the project has been working on "simple demonstration models, many of which are of the super-secret Government project set up to answer the fundamental questions relating to the prob -lem of the national air defense."

In essence, "Project Lincoln" was set up to answer the following three questions concerning the future of the nation's air defense:
1. How to develop a deliverable atomic bomb to ruin this country's capacity to wage war?
2. How to get the ball rolling for this project, despite the tremendous opposition of the "Lincoln" scientists that was encountered?
3. When will the Russians have atomic bombs in their hands, and will this country's capacity to wage war be ruined by俄罗斯?

"Take Me Back to Tech" and "Arise," persons who successfully have seats. The others, approximate-

The classes are open to all students. All Tickets Taken will be juniors next Saturday, March 21, for graduates on Saturday, March 21, for graduates

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

Among the men who led this project were Dr. Bums B. Killen, Jr., and Dr. Henry B. Lott, the project director, and James C. Brown, the project engineer. The project, it was learned, is now in the hands of President Eisen-heimer and Vannevar Bush.

The mature of "Project Lincoln," in essence, "Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.

"Project Lincoln" was the biggest government project awarded to the United States by President Killion, which President Killion has repeatedly claimed is the most important project ever awarded to the United States.