Sophas Favored
To Take Honors
In Interclass Meet

One of the oldest athletic events in the annual Air Force Interclass Meet which featured an intense rivalry among all four classes. First initiated in 1925, this meet has experienced twenty-seven consecutive years of competition uninterrupted by war, flood, or what have you. The twenty-eighth edition of this meet promises to be as hard fought as the others. Interclass Meet records are expected to fall in several events. The Sophomores are likely to have 24 points for honors, though they may be hard pressed by the Freshmen. The upperclassmen are likely to have a score of 40 or 42 points, and the Freshmen their usual score of 14.

Plans Announced
For AFROTC Camp

Objectives for the AFROTC Basic Camp program, affecting all members of Cadet Company 107, in the junior or senior years, have been made by AFROTC Headquarters. Sixty one Air Force Bases throughout the United States are now participating. The objective is to fill the gaps by making members more qualified to take advantage of the new AFROTC program. Many students are ordinarily sent to camps not on their home campus, but because of the geographical location of the camps, and with all members of the Cadet Company 107 in the same area, this is not possible for the members of the Cadet Company 107.

The AFROTC Camp program is to be conducted by the Cadet Company 107 in the upcoming year. The Cadets will have their first taste of military life at the beginning of a nine-month period in which they are to study and train in the AFROTC program to better prepare for college and help them in the future. The Cadets will be divided into groups according to their interest and will be taught by instructors who are experienced in the field.

"AFROTC Camp will be a great opportunity for the Cadets to learn about military life and prepare themselves for college and future careers," said the Cadet Company 107 commander. "We are excited to have this opportunity to learn and grow as Cadets."
