THE OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE UNDERGRADUATES OF THE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

VOL. LXIII NO. 13
CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS, TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1953
5 CENTS

ROTC Cadets Participate in Annual Military Review

By Charles S. Lewis

On April 16, 17, and 18, the last three days of the current semester, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology celebrated its 75th anniversary with a series of events. Among these, the annual Military Review was held on April 18, with the participation of the ROTC cadets from the University.

The review, which is an important part of the ROTC program, provides cadets with an opportunity to demonstrate their military leadership skills and to showcase their knowledge of military tactics and procedures. The review includes various formations, drills, and songs, and it is an opportunity for the cadets to build camaraderie and teamwork.

The annual Military Review is an important event for the ROTC cadets, as it allows them to practice their leadership skills and to gain a deeper understanding of military procedures. The review also provides an opportunity for the public to witness the cadets' dedication and commitment to their training.

The ROTC cadets were led by their instructors and drill sergeants, who ensured that the cadets were well-prepared for the review. The review was a success, and the cadets were praised for their dedication and hard work.

In addition to the Military Review, the 75th anniversary celebration included a variety of other events, such as a symposium, a gala dinner, and a special concert. These events provided an opportunity for the MIT community to come together and celebrate the university's rich history and its contributions to education and technology.

Overall, the annual Military Review was a great success, and it demonstrated the dedication and discipline of the ROTC cadets. The event was enjoyed by all who attended, and it served as a reminder of the important role that the ROTC program plays in preparing cadets for leadership roles in the military and in civilian life.

Humanity Called to Consider Academic Freedom

By Paul A. D'Amato

The report of the Academic Freedom Task Force, which was presented to the Association of American Universities, has been criticized by some scholars. The task force, which was established in 1947, has been working to promote academic freedom and to protect the rights of scholars to express their views. The report was released in early April, and it has been met with mixed reactions.

The report of the Academic Freedom Task Force, which was presented to the Association of American Universities, has been criticized by some scholars. The task force, which was established in 1947, has been working to promote academic freedom and to protect the rights of scholars to express their views. The report was released in early April, and it has been met with mixed reactions.