To the Editor of THE TECH:

We think the recent action in the faculty of THE TECH's editorial is to prevent a foregone conclusion of Bouvier's position of M.I.T. student issues. For the past 2 years, the paper has been doing this job with real responsibility. The reaction to last Friday's action is a good indication of how necessary this job is; very few of the students objected strongly to the views expressed; many were rather pleased that THE TECH had expressed them.

We think the two important questions raised by the editorial were: The memorandum presented by Dean Buell in the most complete statement of his views we have seen; it was clearly a good first step to help students understand the first question by publishing the memorandum. The fact that it has not yet been modified and clarified is, no doubt, a fine example of administrative-student cooperation; but more important, its original form strongly suggests (as at least the beginnings of a liberal student policy. The freedom given students and student activities here has had, we honestly believe, much more satisfactorily results. Commenting upon the memorandum, we can only conclude that the present time is that we who are university administrators are the people who should adopt any and all resolutions which are true evaluations of the present situation.
