HUMANISM

Inviting...

All young men and women for whom religious faith has been significant...

These Lectures...

May well help you find the answers to the most important question of your life.

Three memebers of student government held last week at Columbia University held an important institution's bicentennial anniversary.

Robert W. Morgan, '65, Eilion H. Tidby, '70, and John D. May, '68 attended the affair in New York which was arranged by Columbia's student government.

Dormcomm

(Continued from page 1)

night dance, to be held in Baker House.

Whether or not the weekend will be held, is contingent upon the number of students who will attend. This number must exceed 100 complex.

The committee decided to poll dormitory residents in an effort to discover the number who will attend. The tickets will cost more than $5.50 per couple, and Dormcomm believes that special arrangements can be made to obtain flowers and toast rentals at a discount.

Friday evening entertainment on Saturday, the committee will ask that the dormitory sponsor parties.

In regard to the recent questionnaires asking students opinion on open house hours, it was announced that all the blanks had not yet been collected, but that this will be completed in order that the results can be released at committee's meeting on April 5. Following the compilation of the results, Inquiring Committee, through its chairman, John Stiler '70, intends to make a policy statement regarding open house hours. From the early results, it appears that many students respondents the last question on the form implying that they preferred extended hours for social purposes.

Simple Rooms In Use

It was announced at the meeting that the administration has cooperated in vacant rooms in East Campus to the floor residents is an effort to see if this will be used. This is part of a program of studying the possibility of providing students additional lounging space in the dorms. Rooms will be allowed in these rooms.

The committee has refused to pay an old bill for damages sustained in a riot at East Campus in May. The matter took place on a Friday night, and instead of waiting until the following Monday to remove the small amount of debris, the Institute, it appears, had to have the men to do the job during the weekend, and paid both the workmen and a supervisor at a rate of $36 an hour overtime. Dormcomm feels that this was unnecessary, and has decided to investigate the matter.

INVITING...

All young men and women for whom religious faith has been significant...

These Lectures...

May well help you find the answers to the most important question of your life.

HEAR...

DISCOVERING HUMANISM

Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as an absorbing personal faith"

Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as a source of building a better life."

Friday, April 14, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as "the world's great religions"

As hailed by Dr. Julius Huley at the first International Conference of Humanists in Amsterdam.

ADMISSION FREE

THE TECH

TUESDAY, APRIL 6, 1964

Three Students Attend Conference In New York City

Dormcomm Honored

The committee decided to precede the April 6 meeting with a dinner at the Smith House in honor of the group's past chairman, Charles J. Manson, '46. At the dinner, Manson was presented with a gavel. The committee also voted to table a motion to amend the constitution so as to limit the visiting hours for students, that this situation detracts from their privacy. A motion to amend the constitution so as to limit the visiting hours for students was defeated.

Most students, including those in the committee, who have participated in a conference held last week at Columbia University held an important institution's bicentennial anniversary. Robert W. Morgan, '65, Eilion H. Tidby, '70, and John D. May, '68 attended the affair in New York which was arranged by Columbia's student government.

Dormcomm

(Continued from page 1)

night dance, to be held in Baker House.

Whether or not the weekend will be held, is contingent upon the number of students who will attend. This number must exceed 100 complex.

The committee decided to poll dormitory residents in an effort to discover the number who will attend. The tickets will cost more than $5.50 per couple, and Dormcomm believes that special arrangements can be made to obtain flowers and toast rentals at a discount.

Friday evening entertainment on Saturday, the committee will ask that the dormitory sponsor parties.

In regard to the recent questionnaires asking students opinion on open house hours, it was announced that all the blanks had not yet been collected, but that this will be completed in order that the results can be released at committee's meeting on April 5. Following the compilation of the results, Inquiring Committee, through its chairman, John Stiler '70, intends to make a policy statement regarding open house hours. From the early results, it appears that many students respondents the last question on the form implying that they preferred extended hours for social purposes.

Simple Rooms In Use

It was announced at the meeting that the administration has cooperated in vacant rooms in East Campus to the floor residents is an effort to see if this will be used. This is part of a program of studying the possibility of providing students additional lounging space in the dorms. Rooms will be allowed in these rooms.

The committee has refused to pay an old bill for damages sustained in a riot at East Campus in May. The matter took place on a Friday night, and instead of waiting until the following Monday to remove the small amount of debris, the Institute, it appears, had to have the men to do the job during the weekend, and paid both the workmen and a supervisor at a rate of $36 an hour overtime. Dormcomm feels that this was unnecessary, and has decided to investigate the matter.

INVITING...

All young men and women for whom religious faith has been significant...

These Lectures...

May well help you find the answers to the most important question of your life.

HEAR...

DISCOVERING HUMANISM

Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as an absorbing personal faith"

Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as a source of building a better life."

Friday, April 14, at 8 p.m.

"Discovering Humanism as "the world's great religions"

As hailed by Dr. Julius Huley at the first International Conference of Humanists in Amsterdam.

ADMISSION FREE