B.C. Topples Beavers, 5-0
Pitching Lapses Cause Loss

Tommahawk hopes went down another notch last Saturday as Boston College took advantage of a seventh inning spell of wildness by sophomore left-hander Bob Turner to down the Merrittmen 5-0 at University Heights.

In an effort to stop the strong B.C. left-handed power hitters, Coach Merritt employed southpaw Turner, and he almost turned the trick. He faced six batters he faced in his two-inning six-hitter he faced in his two-inning six-hitter, allowed four runs over the first six innings, aided by sparkplug first-sacker Paul Valerio '54, In an attempt to get some batting and the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, four runs were added after three hits and fielded the first sack flawlessly.

In the unlucky seventh, Turner lost the game against the Beavers as he faced two right-handed batters, Paul Valerio '54, and Ted Blenk '54, hereabout distinguished only by their

Watson
(Continued from page 1)
by the Baker Memorial Foundation and the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Harvard College, Rev. Watson has an extensive background in both theology and psychology. He got his Master of Theology degree from the Pittsburgh-Theologia Theologica Seminary, and his doctorate in psychology from Syracuse University. He has spent several years in youth-counseling work and is interested in the philosophical questions facing modern university students.

Crew
(Continued from page 1)
also on hand was the Crimson horn and percussion band to liven up the proceedings. As usual, the spectators were given the best Jet training in the world, andi...