Electronics Firm, Raytheon, Joins Cooperative Plan

Massachusetts Institute of Technology. WGBH-TV, the educational television firm that recently announced a plan to start a station in Boston, has enlisted the assistance of Raytheon Corporation. The electronics firm became one of nine major companies to participate in M.I.T.'s cooperative course in electrical engineering.

Under the plan, engineering students of the school are selected for practical experiences in the firm's laboratories and factories. Parallelizing their acadeic pursuits with actual work in their chosen careers, these students upon graduation will be awarded similarly the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Science.

Those who will begin work in Ray-thion's plants next fall under the M.I.T. plan will be given experience in various phases of electronics including the development and production of microcircuitry and receiving tubes, transistors, and communications equipment. Raytheon is the largest firm in these technical fields in New England.

Some was called out on stage several times for the songs, but could not, however, be induced to play an encore.
This was followed by a rendition of An American in Paris by Garstwin which included a rather fine trumpet side by a trumpeter who shall remain nominal due to his name not appearing on the program.

As its contribution in the evening's entertainment, the M.I.T. combined Glee Club and Choral Society, directed by Professor Kless Ligmann, per-fomed excerpts of the TV's Decem-
