Dormitory Council Passes Amendments To By-laws

Dormitory Council, at a meeting on Monday, voted to amend several articles of its by-laws. The first amendment stated that all decisions rendered by the Dormitory Council must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. Previous to this all decisions of the full body only required a simple majority. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of eight to two with one abstention.

The second amendment stated that no council funds may be spent except for officially sponsored projects or activities of those bodies. A motion was also made to let the president of the Council vote only in case of a tie.

Since the two motions for dormitory council defined this duty, it was decided to form a committee to control the social functions of the dormitories. If the committee approves a function, the Dean of Men will sign a letter authorizing the Dormitory Social Committee to conduct events in the dormitories.

The final item of business was the approval of a new constitution for the Dormitory Social Committee. It was decided that all dormitory social chairman will be elected for the first term of four years. If their term is not completed, they will be replaced by a representative from the following year.

The new constitution states that all decisions of the Dormitory Social Committee must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of eight to two with one abstention.

In addition, two new positions were created: Dormitory Social Coordinator and Dormitory Social Consultant. The Dormitory Social Coordinator will be elected for the first term of four years and will be responsible for all activities in the dormitories. The Dormitory Social Consultant will be elected for the second term of four years and will be responsible for all activities in the dormitories.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.

The new charter states that all decisions rendered by the full body must be at least by a three-quarters majority of the committee, with no more than one dissenting vote. After a long debate the motion was approved by a vote of twelve to three with two abstentions.