A.P.O. Holds Hop Tomorrow Night At Burton House

Tomorrow night, from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m., Alpha Phi Omega will sponsor a dance in the Burton House Lounge. This dance, titled "Who's Who Which," has a novel twist, and a "valuable" door prize for the couple who best "catch cut" in this twist.

As each pair enters, they will be given identification tags with the names of a famous couple written on them (e.g., Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, Ike and Mamie). With this tag comes a question or two about well-known couples, the answers to which will count towards the door prize.

During the evening guests will assume the roles of the couples whose names appear on their tags. A special entertainment feature is also planned. Cost is $1.25 per couple, with tickets available at the door. Beverages will include "twangy" rum and coke, and music will be supplied by the Burton lounge audio system.

InComm

(Continued from page 1) discuss the following questions: (1) what should an ideal freshman orientation do? (2) how well does our present program do this? (3) would a different program do it better? Considerable attention will also be given to improving the mechanics of Field Day, with particular emphasis on the rules governing the glove and the purple shawl. The group will also discuss whether the Field Day Committee should be responsible to the Athletic Association or to Institute Committees.

SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAM

The Selective Service College Qualification Test will be held next September. Applications for this exam must be filed by November 23. The necessary forms, as well as any other information concerning Selective Service, may be obtained from Mrs. Eleanor Luth in Room 14.5136.

RELIGIOUS ADVISORS

The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Religious Advisers has been held in the offices of the religious advisors at the Institute. Their phone numbers are as follows: 14.5316—Est. 2918; 14.5314—Est. 2902; Walter 289—Est. 1923.
