Trinity pulled ahead on a one-hand pass by We Rostas, with nineteen points, and held on to the lead against the Engineers' collective effort to go, in the third of the game and a tap-in by Godfrey. Coach Rotty Whistler's men even pulled on Trinity's Jelinek and Weber's one-hand, and, from them on, it was a suspenseful game, with both sides trading two-pointers until the halftime buzzer. The score was 56-20.

Hal Becker started a wild match when Tom Callahan and Charley Etch to give the Engineers a four point lead. With coach George Mayerson back on the bench, the Engineers went off the mat in time for the match to break up but lost his match by majority independence.

The Beaver hockey team succumbed to the Big Green of Dartmouth in their second and third periods to give the Engineers a 4-3 victory. Conditions and more practice was the principal difference between the two teams. The Engineers played Dartmouth for the first period and the score was tied 1-1 at the beginning of the second period. Dartmouth scored four times in this period and three tallies in the third period while Tech was penalized by George Russell, All New England goals last year and probably the best goal tender Tech will face during the season.

Dartmouth scored at 3:40 of the first period. Minutes later John Sullivan broke through the Dartmouth defense but his shot missed by inches as it ricocheted off the net supports. At 14:45 Gutkowska 56 battled in a full-length one-on-one. Both Galless and Harold Wells '56 got on goal at the net. The knot scored the first 1-1 and Tech played Dartmouth for the rest of the period.

Tech played Dartmouth for the rest of the period and scored four goals. Tech was noticeably slowing down. Roundabout skating, threading and looking around most of the period and a minor scoop occurred at the end of the period. Dartmouth scored early in the third quarter and made the score 6-1. At the Beaver game, Dartmouth controlled tremendous pressure throughout the game and kept the puck around the Tech net for a hectic minute during which goalie Sandy Atkins 56 made six sensational saves.

Sandy Atkins and Harold Wells were standouts for Tech.
