Arnold Delivers First Of Popular Science Lecture

The first of this year’s series of Popular Science Lectures was presented in Huntington Hall on January 23 at 4:00 p.m. Presented at that time was a discussion on “Science Fiction in the Classroom” by John E. Arnold, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

Professor Arnold’s lecture, which was enhanced by the use of slides illustrating the creative process and the solution of creative problems, was attended by several hundred people, including many professors and their families.

The lecture will be given on Sunday, March 20, at 4:00 p.m. At this time, Avery A. Morton, Ph.D., Professor of Arts will be given on Sunday, March 20, at 4:00 p.m. At this time, Avery A. Morton, Ph.D., Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

The second in this series of lectures presented by the M.I.T. Society professors and their families.

The lecture was attended by several hundred people, including many professors and their families.

The lecture will be given on Sunday, March 20, at 4:00 p.m. At this time, Avery A. Morton, Ph.D., Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

The lecture was attended by several hundred people, including many professors and their families.

Baker Memorial Prints

All people interested in Baker Memorial Prints should sign up for their first three choices in the TCA office sometime this week. The drawing will take place this Friday. About 150 people will get priority which cost $1.00 a person. Last semester 300 people signed up.

Don’t be Timid... on Valentine’s Day...

Put a Smile in Your Life

Say “I Love You” by TELEGRAM!

Shrinking violet or conquering Casanova — you’re sure to make a hit with a Valentine’s Telegram! A telegram says “you’re my special Valentine.” And it makes you extra special, too!

And remember, Telegrams are so handy for any occasion! For birthdays, anniversaries, to cheer a date or extend an invitation. In fact, its more to wire

Smoking!

Try Chesterfield Today

You’ll smile your approval of Chesterfield’s smoothness — mildness — refreshing taste. You’ll smile your approval of Chesterfield’s quality — highest quality — low nicotine.

In the Whole Wide World No Cigarette Satisfies Like Chesterfield

© Leon A. Moss Tobacco Co.