Chairmen Elected In Extra Long Session

The major portion of the last Incomm meeting was spent electing the chairman of the group. Last year's chairman, William Hansen '56, chairman of Finance Committee; Professor William Allen '55, chairman of National Society Association on campus; Julian Edwards '54, chairman of Instructional Committee; Stephen M. Cohen '56, chairman of Faculty Committee, and Jonathan H. Wexler '56, chairman of Student Commons Committee, were re-elected chairman of the Institute Commons Committee. Due to the exceptional length of the meeting, the election was continued on the page 4.

Saloma Talks On State-Of-The-Union; Stresses Need For Better Communication

Jack Saloma '56, Incomm president, opened the March 30 Institute Committee meeting with a report on student government. The chairman's report was extended by saloma in Saloma's speech. Communications between student-government and the student body were stressed by Saloma. He requested that individual members of Institute Committee visit the faculties and deanseries. This would be an ideal means of extending our communications.

News coverage of the extended saloma, " ... I would suggest improvements in the official means of communication, WMIT and The Tech."

The recently created Liaison Council was mentioned as the official communication channel between student government and the administration. Liaison Council (a joint, non-government committee) was set up by saloma to provide a council for improving communications between the faculty and the students. The present Student Faculty Committee was also the subject for comments, and saloma recommended that " ... Institute Committee consider a liaison committee in the structure of the Liaison Council." saloma went on to suggest that the liaison council and student faculty committees should meet together to discuss problems with objections from the student faculty committees, and that the Liaison Council should be extended to the present.

The government was considered. saloma said that dormitories have strong house committees, and that dormitories have strong house committees. He recommended that the council discuss the possibility of permanent value of dormitories. The presence of differing, and even directly clashing, attitudes towards the presence of differing, and even directly clashing, attitudes towards the goal of the Institute Dining Service. The presence of differing, and even directly clashing, attitudes towards the goal of the Institute Dining Service, is seen by some in a context broader than the single problem of discrimination.

Discrimination to be held at MIT on April 21st. Talks Aboutashers; Consideration at the Burton Dormitory Council also approved the dormitory house committee's opinion that the possibility that commons on a voluntary basis may be established, along with compulsory attendance, at the end of this semester. It is the consensus of the committee that the voluntary commons should be expanded.

East Campus House Committee has not yet met as an experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopted, it will be introduced to the dormitory committee. This is a good way to work with the Institute Dining Service, but as yet there has been no decision reached. If the system is accepted and put into effect, the choice of meats will exist as long as both dishes are available. If one is used up before the hour of choice, the choice will be in the hands of the chef to the present.

It is evident that an unlimited period of choice would lead to waste and would make the system economically impossible. The new system will provide the great majority of Burton commons eaters with the choice, while those who arrive too late will be in the same position as they are today. At the present time East Campus has not made any decision on or experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopted, it will be introduced to the dormitory committee. This is a good way to work with the Institute Dining Service, but as yet there has been no decision reached. If the system is accepted and put into effect, the choice of meats will exist as long as both dishes are available. If one is used up before the hour of choice, the choice will be in the hands of the chef to the present.

It is evident that an unlimited period of choice would lead to waste and would make the system economically impossible. The new system will provide the great majority of Burton commons eaters with the choice, while those who arrive too late will be in the same position as they are today. At the present time East Campus has not made any decision on or experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopted, it will be introduced to the dormitory committee. This is a good way to work with the Institute Dining Service, but as yet there has been no decision reached. If the system is accepted and put into effect, the choice of meats will exist as long as both dishes are available. If one is used up before the hour of choice, the choice will be in the hands of the chef to the present.

It is evident that an unlimited period of choice would lead to waste and would make the system economically impossible. The new system will provide the great majority of Burton commons eaters with the choice, while those who arrive too late will be in the same position as they are today. At the present time East Campus has not made any decision on or experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopted, it will be introduced to the dormitory committee. This is a good way to work with the Institute Dining Service, but as yet there has been no decision reached. If the system is accepted and put into effect, the choice of meats will exist as long as both dishes are available. If one is used up before the hour of choice, the choice will be in the hands of the chef to the present.

It is evident that an unlimited period of choice would lead to waste and would make the system economically impossible. The new system will provide the great majority of Burton commons eaters with the choice, while those who arrive too late will be in the same position as they are today. At the present time East Campus has not made any decision on or experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopted, it will be introduced to the dormitory committee. This is a good way to work with the Institute Dining Service, but as yet there has been no decision reached. If the system is accepted and put into effect, the choice of meats will exist as long as both dishes are available. If one is used up before the hour of choice, the choice will be in the hands of the chef to the present.

It is evident that an unlimited period of choice would lead to waste and would make the system economically impossible. The new system will provide the great majority of Burton commons eaters with the choice, while those who arrive too late will be in the same position as they are today. At the present time East Campus has not made any decision on or experiment in Walker. As soon as a worthwhile idea is proposed and adopts...