Today's hand did just that. Neither be taken, regardless of how desperate. Lucky, too.
The bidding is given just as it occurring:

By Dick Tepker '56

It is a generally accepted fact that in baseball no player will make a hit every time. Even Hollywood will admit (with a little persuasion) that even the great performers are bound to miss now and then. There are, however, degrees of failure. To borrow a little baseball jargon, Alec Guinness, in his latest film, "To Paris With Love," has truck out. No, kids, no rain, and plenty of errors.

One man cannot alone be blamed for the failures of a team, however. There are such people as script writers, directors, and fellow performers, all of whom must do their part. In this case everybody seemed to pitch right in and do his worst.

The well worn story concerns a man and his five piece band. Following the jazz session, cocktail parties were held at the Philadelphi Phi, Chi Phi, and Delta Tau Delta.

Saturday evening's entertainment was provided by several parties. Theta Chi presented its Minuet Rally, Theta Delta Chi its Outreach Goyo, and Phi Delta Epsilon held forth at the Cambridge Hotel House with a Klondike Party. These affairs brought to a successful climax the events of IFC Weekend.