Literary Contest Entries Being Accepted

Entries are now being received for the Robert A. Bolt Essay Prize and the Ellen King Essay Prize, the Department of Humanities has announced.

The Robert A. Bolt Essay Prize is awarded for the best essay submitted by any undergraduate student, "on subjects suitable for treatment in an essay form." The first prize is $15.00, second prize $10.00 and the third $5.00. The Bolt Prize for Imaginative Writing is awarded for the best imaginative writing in verse or short stories, poems, dramas, etc. The first prize is $75.00, second $40.00 and third $25.00.

The Ellen King Essay Prize is awarded for the best essay submitted by a freshman on any subject "suitable for treatment in literary form." Papers submitted in a course as well as an extracurricular composition are eligible. The prize is a collection of books valued at $50.00.

Each entry must have a title page bearing the title of the work, the contestant's name and institute address. The contestant's name should not appear on any other sheet of the entry. Each entry should be submitted in a folder from which the pages can be easily removed. It is also suggested that a second title page be included which does not have the name of the contestant on it, as the original title page is removed and a number assigned to the work so as to ensure unbiased judgment. Collaboration will not be permitted, each work must be the product of the individual's imagination.

All manuscripts must be typed, double spaced, with margins of at least one inch on each side of the page. No single entry is to exceed 5,000 words. Entries in the Ellen King Contest cannot be submitted for the Bolt Contest.

All manuscripts must be in the hands of Prof. Robert R. Robb, Administrative Building, at 1 A.M. on or before May 6.

KKS Joins National Honor Group

At installation ceremonies in the Library Lounge recently, Kappa Kappa Sigma, the local chemical honorary, became the Beta Alpha Chapter of Pi Lambda Upsilon, a national chemical honorary society. Dr. James Good, of Columbia University, national president of Pi Lambda Upsilon, presided at the installation ceremonies, and was assisted by Prof. Gillich, Acting Head of the Chemical Engineering Department, and Prof. Sheehan and Prof. Snod, as well as by an installation team from the University of Connecticut.

The aims and purposes of the society are the promotion of high scholarship and original investigation in all branches of pure and applied chemistry, and to open to qualified students in these fields, Phi Lambda Upsilon becomes after Tau Beta Pi, the largest honorary society at MIT. At a banquet following the installation ceremonies, Prof. Blinn, of the Department of Humanities, spoke as "Problems of American Foreign Policy." Prof. Avery A. Ashdown also announced the names of the officers of the new chapter. They are:

Robert Malthers, '56 President
Arthur Frank, '56 Vice President
Larry Moss, '56 Secretary
Richard Miller, '56 Treasurer
