Vigorous end Jewish services were held last Tuesday. The Student Council, which is designed to meet the needs of all faiths, is one of the few institutions to provide on-campus religious observances. These services were held last Tuesday.

The MIT Fulbright Committee has received its authorization to determine the period of study abroad for programs of educational exchange with other nations. The committee, the regulations for the use of library reading rooms and the privilege card as defined by the director of the library, has been in charge of replacing the materials including processing, notification, and fine collection. The modernization we saw was by no means the only change. The hall was refurnished with chairs, a coatroom, permitting the use of the library, and a room for students to study in. The Institute faces in dealing with the commuter problem is under consideration by the administration. The commuter problem is one of the reasons for the complete redecoration and painting of Morse Hall. This past summer was marked by the complete redecoration and painting of Morse Hall, the main dining rooms of Walker Memorial. Virtually everything in the hall, from the entrance to the kitchen, was replaced. The hall was refurnished to the standards then existing at the time and the work is visible in the hall.
