Purpose, Broad Scope, Facilities Continue To Hold
High Rank In Institute's Student Athletic Program

By F. Holman Waymear '58

With several of the full intercollegiate teams having already started practice, the MIT athletic system rolls into another long, hard, yet thoroughly enjoyable school year of physical recreation for Tech students. The Institute neither awards any athletic scholarships, nor does it give preference to a man with athletic skills when considering applicants for admission. Yet the scope of the Institute's sports lay-out is as broad as that of any other college or university in the country, in that ample opportunity for athletic competition is offered to every student without exception. There are no so-called "ringers" or primadonnas in any phase of the Cardinal and Grey athletic system, from intercollegiate sports down to simple after-class recreation. Every man starts with equal opportunity, competing freely, and rising on the basis of his ability and achievement.

Under the present system, run by the Athletic Association, a total of six athletic credit points is necessary to obtain a baccalauriate degree. There are two ways in which to accumulate these credits. First, one may attend a regular class in one or more of the year-round intramural sports available through the year. These classes accomplish their designated purpose in that they afford the opportunity to get a taste of different sports, and to receive instruction in a variety of activities.

When you need a quick sprint for faster passing, this V8 delivers!
It's pure dynamite, and you have to go, way up the price ladder before you ever find its equal.

The proof was burned into the sands of Daytona Beach at the NASCAR trials earlier this year. In acceleration tests, Chevrolet walked away from everything else in its class. Plus all the high-priced competition.

It's the big reason Chevrolet's been taking all comers in short track stock car events this season. Speeding along with handling ease and cornering ability-things that mean safer, happier highway driving. Come on in and let a new Chevrolet show you what we mean.

NEW CHEVROLET

Now's the time to buy low prices—big deals! Enjoy a new Chevrolet

RARE CHEVROLET

DECIDING FEVER

NIGHT AND DAY

EVERYWHERE!

Drive with care...EVERYWHERE!

The bush leaguer

An Open Letter to Participants, Fanatics, and Followers of Intramural Sports:

In line with this issue the Bush Leaguer will be opened under new management and under a new name. As before, the Bush Leaguer will deal with intercollegiate sports; intramural sports exclusively will be given to the dominos, fraternities, and other social organizations. The Bush Leaguer is completely unbiased.

As before, the Bush Leaguer is a vast and extensive enterprise and complete coverage by all our writers is not possible. Therefore, I am asking all athletic managers from the dorms, fraternities, and other social organizations to send me the results of all events as soon as possible. The column will be written on Sunday night and all results must be in by then to make the Tuesday issue. These reports should contain the more or less outstanding plays or events. They can be dropped in the Tech Office in the basement of Walker, in Baker Box 1200, or called in to The Tech-East Campus Line, Institute Extension 2731, or KI-7-1881.

The coverage a team receives will depend on whether or not we have the material to cover it.

The major point sports—football, basketball, and softball—will receive more space than the rest but all will be given room.

We hope that this column will completely satisfy all concerned and we welcome any comments or questions from anyone.

With several of the fall intercollegiate teams having already started practice, the MIT athletic system rolls into another long, hard, yet thoroughly enjoyable school year of physical recreation for Tech students. The Institute neither awards any athletic scholarships, nor does it give preference to a man with athletic skills when considering applicants for admission. Yet the scope of the Institute's sports lay-out is as broad as that of any other college or university in the country, in that ample opportunity for athletic competition is offered to every student without exception. There are no so-called "ringers" or primadonnas in any phase of the Cardinal and Grey athletic system, from intercollegiate sports down to simple after-class recreation. Every man starts with equal opportunity, competing freely, and rising on the basis of his ability and achievement.

Under the present system, run by the Athletic Association, a total of six athletic credit points is necessary to obtain a baccalauriate degree. There are two ways in which to accumulate these credits. First, one may attend a regular class in one or more of the year-round intramural sports available through the year. These classes accomplish their designated purpose in that they afford the opportunity to get a taste of different sports, and to receive instruction in a variety of activities.

When you need a quick sprint for faster passing, this V8 delivers!

Chevrolet walked away from everything else in its class. Plus all the high-priced competition.

It's the big reason Chevrolet's been taking all comers in short track stock car events this season. Speeding along with handling ease and cornering ability-things that mean safer, happier highway driving. Come on in and let a new Chevrolet show you what we mean.

NEW CHEVROLET

Now's the time to buy low prices—big deals! Enjoy a new Chevrolet