Seventy-Five Students Spend Night Lined Up For Junior Prom Tickets

by Robert Selt '68

Any student who wishes to be among the first to reserve a seat in the main lobby of Building 10 on Wednesday night will have to line up early, for tickets will go on sale at 9 a.m. and the first hundred people in line will be admitted to the building.

All students who are eighteenth and twenty-first years old, and who have been living in the dormitories for at least three years, are eligible to be members of the prom committee and have a hand in the planning of the evening.

Also, any student who wishes to be present at the prom must have a ticket, so those who want to be sure of getting a place should line up early.

The committee is made up of representatives from each dormitory, and the planning of the evening will be under their direction.

The committee has been working hard to make this event a success, and their efforts are sure to result in a memorable evening for all who attend.

Santé Class Plans Insurance Benefits For Reunion Fund

The Class of 1958 has entered into negotiations with several insurance companies, one of which is the Prudential Insurance Company of America, a major national firm. This firm is offering a wide range of products designed to meet the needs of MIT alumni.

Among the benefits available to alumni of the Class of 1958 are:

- Life insurance
- Long-term care insurance
- Disability income protection
- Health insurance

The benefits are available at attractive rates, and the Class of 1958 has already received a substantial number of inquiries from alumni who are interested in these opportunities.

The insurance company has also agreed to contribute a portion of its proceeds to the Class of 1958 Reunion Fund, which is being established to support future class reunions.

HUMAN RELATIONS EDUCATOR EXPLAINS POSITION, PLANS TO REMOVE RESTRICTIVE CLAUSES

"All discriminatory clauses that exist at MIT fraternities are due to national considerations," says Stephen Weiskoff, '57, Human Relations Educator of IPC. "These clauses have been in existence for many years and serve to maintain the status quo," he adds.

"We are committed to removing these clauses from all fraternities at MIT," Weiskoff continues. "This will involve a lot of work, but it is necessary if we are to create a more inclusive and welcoming environment for all students."
