Senn, Saltonstall, Speech to Kegee
Deals With Foreign Aid, Middle East

Sen. Paul S. Sarbanes of Maryland, who chairs the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the ranking Republican, will deliver the principal address and after-dinner luncheon at the Harvard Club of New York City. The speech will be delivered by the leaders of the Senate's foreign policy sauces.

The speech is expected to be a major event in the debate over foreign aid policy, as the Senate prepares to vote on the fiscal year 1957 foreign aid bill. The speech will be a key moment in the debate over the role of the United States in the world, and the impact of foreign aid on American foreign policy.

The speech will be delivered on the same day that the Senate is expected to vote on the foreign aid bill. The speech will be a key moment in the debate over the role of the United States in the world, and the impact of foreign aid on American foreign policy.
