Low 1st Half Hampers Techmen

Tech's varsity lacrosse team bowed at home 7-5 on Briggs Field last Friday for their second straight loss. The Engineers rallied for all but one goal in the second half but were unable to overcome the lead early by the Lord Jeffs with their quick stick handling and ball control. Tech's play showed definite improvement over Wednesday's loss to Harvard, but again the absence of Co-Captain Lesley Diemoz in the attack immensely.

Play in the first period varied back and forth, with both teams unable to score several times. Amherst worked the ball clear in front of the cage but was unable to pick up only two goals. Walt Frey was the only Tech runner to break the Jeffs' defense, hitting the post at 9:31 and hitting it on a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up by the Lord Jeffs with their second on a short pass from the right at 9:53.

From here in the Engineers held the ball unassisted from the right at 9:53. Frey got his third of the game, hitting the post at 8:27 and 9:31 respectively. Amherst's Sam Deck scored a goal to break the Techmen's defense, hitting the corner at 8:46 when Tech goalie Mike Damore had a pass intercepted and a shot put in by Knowles before he could get back into the unguarded cage.

A sharpshooter Walt Frey put in the first goal for the Maritimes at 6:38 of the third period as he went through two men and hit the corner out of reach of Harry Goodruff, playing a fine game in the Purples' net. Amherst got it right back again as they put in a pretty back hander from the left. Frey once again cut the margin to two as he walked in on the right and hit a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up to 6-2 at 8:41 on a long shot from Bob Francis.

For the second straight week, Tech's varsity heavyweight and 100-lb. crew rowed to second places, this time behind Syracuse and Cornell respectively. For the big Orange from Syracuse Saturday was a very successful day as their freshmen rowed to the first school win in 63 races and their varsity were successful on the Charles for the first time in five years.

Tech's heavies, highly favored in the team, finished a length and a half behind when one of their oarsmen suffered a cramp in the last 1/8 mile and was unable to add to the sprint. BU was third, two lengths behind, with Dartmouth and Columbia trailing way back.

UNH Top Cindermen

Carberry Wins Mile

A powerful University of New Hampshire track team defeated MIT for the second time this year by a score of 79 to 56. Pete Carberry was the only Tech runner to break the Jeffs' defense, hitting the post at 9:31 and hitting it on a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up by the Lord Jeffs with their second on a short pass from the right at 9:53. Frey got his third of the game, hitting the post at 8:27 and 9:31 respectively. Amherst's Sam Deck scored a goal to break the Techmen's defense, hitting the corner at 8:46 when Tech goalie Mike Damore had a pass intercepted and a shot put in by Knowles before he could get back into the unguarded cage.

An sharpshooter Walt Frey put in the first goal for the Maritimes at 6:38 of the third period as he went through two men and hit the corner out of reach of Harry Goodruff, playing a fine game in the Purples' net. Amherst got it right back again as they put in a pretty back hander from the left. Frey once again cut the margin to two as he walked in on the right and hit a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up to 6-2 at 8:41 on a long shot from Bob Francis.

For the second straight week, Tech's varsity heavyweight and 100-lb. crew rowed to second places, this time behind Syracuse and Cornell respectively. For the big Orange from Syracuse Saturday was a very successful day as their freshmen rowed to the first school win in 63 races and their varsity were successful on the Charles for the first time in five years.

Tech's heavies, highly favored in the team, finished a length and a half behind when one of their oarsmen suffered a cramp in the last 1/8 mile and was unable to add to the sprint. BU was third, two lengths behind, with Dartmouth and Columbia trailing way back.

UNH Top Cindermen

Carberry Wins Mile

A powerful University of New Hampshire track team defeated MIT for the second time this year by a score of 79 to 56. Pete Carberry was the only Tech runner to break the Jeffs' defense, hitting the post at 9:31 and hitting it on a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up by the Lord Jeffs with their second on a short pass from the right at 9:53. Frey got his third of the game, hitting the post at 8:27 and 9:31 respectively. Amherst's Sam Deck scored a goal to break the Techmen's defense, hitting the corner at 8:46 when Tech goalie Mike Damore had a pass intercepted and a shot put in by Knowles before he could get back into the un guarded cage.

Tech's heavies, highly favored in the team, finished a length and a half behind when one of their oarsmen suffered a cramp in the last 1/8 mile and was unable to add to the sprint. BU was third, two lengths behind, with Dartmouth and Columbia trailing way back.

UNH Top Cindermen

Carberry Wins Mile

A powerful University of New Hampshire track team defeated MIT for the second time this year by a score of 79 to 56. Pete Carberry was the only Tech runner to break the Jeffs' defense, hitting the post at 9:31 and hitting it on a quick flip shot. Amherst pulled it up by the Lord Jeffs with their second on a short pass from the right at 9:53. Frey got his third of the game, hitting the post at 8:27 and 9:31 respectively. Amherst's Sam Deck scored a goal to break the Techmen's defense, hitting the corner at 8:46 when Tech goalie Mike Damore had a pass intercepted and a shot put in by Knowles before he could get back into the un guarded cage.

Tech's heavies, highly favored in the team, finished a length and a half behind when one of their oarsmen suffered a cramp in the last 1/8 mile and was unable to add to the sprint. BU was third, two lengths behind, with Dartmouth and Columbia trailing way back.